

AFRICANS OK CEASE-FIRE

—POST OFFICE CONSTRUCTION SLATED IN 1964—

New Federal Building Planned

Plans for construction of a new $2 million Lincoln Post Office in late 1964 and for a $10-$11 million General Services Administration (GSA) building for federal offices in the next two or three years were announced Wednesday.

Site for the new post office, not officially confirmed, is the two-block area between R and T, 7th to 8th.

No site for the GSA building has been proposed, but sources indicated a one-block area would be sought within the city's downtown business district.

The new 111,000 square-foot post office would house all postal offices and mail terminal facilities.

The space abandoned by the post office in the Federal Building at 10th and P would be converted to additional federal office space.

The new postal facility would be designed for 25-year expansion and growth and is described as a "modern mail-handling factory."

The GSA building would bring federal offices and agencies now scattered over the city under one roof.

Sen. Carl Curtis said the new building would put Lincoln in a good position to keep the federal agencies now located here and perhaps even attract new ones.

He said he knew of no federal agency interested in a Lincoln location, but noted the GSA keeps in touch with future office planning of governmental agencies.

U.S. Orders 3 Soviets Out

... WERE IN SPY PLOT

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The United States demanded Wednesday that three men in the Soviet United Nations delegation leave the country by Friday afternoon on grounds they had taken part in a spy plot.

In a note sent to the Soviet delegation in midday, the U.S. delegation called for their "immediate departure." A U.S. delegation spokesman said "immediate" in diplomatic language, usually meant 48 hours.

The men were Glib A. Pavlov, attaché; Yuri A. Romashin, third secretary; and Vladimir L. Olenov, described merely as a member of the Soviet delegation, which is located in New York City.

Linked

The Federal Bureau of Investigation had linked all three with another Russian and an American electronics engineer arrested in Englewood, N.J., Tuesday night on spy charges.

Those arrested were Igor A. Ivanov of New York City, chauffeur for the Soviet trading agency Amtorg, and John William Butenko of Orange, N.J., control administrator for the International Electric Corp. of Paramus, N.J.

A spokesman for the corporation said its main work was to manage production of a worldwide electronic control system for the Strategic Air Command.

Named

The three Soviet delegation members were named with Ivanov and Butenko in an FBI complaint, but Olenov was never in custody.

Pavlov and Romashin were picked up with Ivanov and Butenko. They later were freed, however, because they have diplomatic immunity from arrest.

The U.S. delegation's note said Pavlov, Romashin and Olenov had taken part in an espionage conspiracy against the United States.

Outside

This, the note went on, was outside their official responsibilities as members of the Soviet permanent mission to the United Nations, and was a flagrant abuse of the privilege of residence in the United States.

Accordingly, the note demanded their departure in line with an agreement between the United States and the United Nations regarding U.N. headquarters.

This agreement says the United States shall accord diplomatic immunity to such members of foreign delegations to the United Nations as may be agreed upon and shall not interfere with their transit to and from U.N. headquarters.

Not Exempt

It says they may not be required to leave the United States on account of any activities performed in their official capacities but shall not be exempt from expulsion "in case of abuse of . . . privileges of residence" by activities outside their official capacities.

Butenko, 38, and Ivanov, 33, went before U.S. Commissioner Theodore Kiscaras in Rutherford, N.J., early Wednesday.

They pleaded innocent to a formal charge of "delivering to a foreign government information relating to the national defense of the United States."

Kiscaras ordered both held in $100,000 bail but later revoked bail. The prisoners must remain in Hudson County Jail in Jersey City, N.J., pending federal grand jury action.

He acted on the request of U.S. Atty. David M. Satz Jr., who said, "It's a capital case and we don't have to have bail in a case of this kind."

Terry's Plan: 3 Interest Rates

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A new compromise proposal urging creation of three interest rate classifications was presented to the Legislature Wednesday by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Carpenter laid his recommendation before the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee in the form of amendments to LB11.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth and co-signed by the Scottsbluff lawmaker.

Carpenter's plan: —leave the general usury limit at 9%.

—amend the installment loan act into a purely small loan law with a limitation of $1,500 and maximum rates of 30% on the first $200, 24% on the next $200, and 12% on the next $1,000.

—enact a new 12% maximum interest law which would be applied against any loans or time-sales to be paid in installments, with no limits on the amount which could be loaned or the length of the loan or forbearance.

No License Necessary

Persons using the new 12% law would not need to be licensed.

Carpenter's proposal also provides that the same penalty—fourfold of double interest—be levied against violators of any of the three statutes.

The plan, he said, is attracting support from most elements of the finance industry.

General agreement with the amendments was voiced at the hearing by spokesmen for the Nebraska Bankers Association and the Nebraska Consumer Credit Association, the latter a trade organization of small loan and sales-finance companies.

Ruhnke's bill, as introduced, proposed only two classifications: a 12% general usury limit, and a reduced installment loan act with a limitation of $1,500 and maximum rates of 30% on the first $200, 24% on the next $200, and 12% on the next $1,000.

The measure also provided that violators of the installment loan act be subjected to a criminal penalty in addition to forfeiture of principal (or merchandise), interest and charges.

All contracts and all advertising of loan rates would have to be stated in terms of simple annual interest, and all other special interest rate laws would be repealed.

Ruhnke said LB11 would "remove all doubt and uncertainty" now plaguing the finance industry. As written, the measure appears to meet constitutional requirements, he noted.

If the committee chooses the Carpenter plan, Ruhnke said, it ought first to "counsel with the attorney general" on the constitutionality of a third category.

Amendments Urged

Gov. Frank Morrison urged the committee to adopt several amendments to the Ruhnke bill, most of them generally in line with Carpenter's proposals.

Morrison urged that the usury limit be left at 9%, that a 12% maximum be allowed for a category of installment loans in excess of $1,000 and that the present installment loan act be limited to loans of less than $1,000.

Retail merchants and automobile dealers Wednesday joined the Farmers Union, the State AFL-CIO and the National Farmers Organization in opposition to a new 12% interest rate law—but for different reasons.

At issue was LB11, a measure which would increase the usury limit from 9% to 12% and enact a reduced installment loan act.

Both the Retail Merchants Association of Nebraska and the Associated Retailers of Omaha urged the Legislature not to repeal the revolving charge agreements act, which now allows charges up to 18%.

'Public Interest'

R. A. Skochdopole of Omaha, representing the latter group, said the rate might be amended, but the law should be retained "in the public's interest."

Keith Andresen of Lincoln, spokesman for the New Car Dealers Association, told the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee that a 12% maximum rate would "not be sufficient" to finance the sale of automobiles.

Car dealers are boosting a bill proposing an 18% rate.

Sales Decrease

Both the new and used car businesses have experienced a decrease in sales since the demise of the installment sales acts of 1959 and 1963, Andresen said. They allowed 30% and 24% maximums, respectively.

Joseph Moore of Lincoln, speaking for the Association of Industrial Loan and Investment Companies, asked a general 12% statute and retention of the special law under which his group now operates.

Credit unions also requested a 12% rate, the same maximum under which they now function.

The Farmers Union, the State AFL-CIO and the National Farmers Organization all urged that the usury limit be retained at 9%.

"We would plead that the voice of the consumer be heard, faint as it is," Farmers Union President Elton Berck declared.

Little Spooks Should Follow Safety Rules

By PATRICIA McCORMICK

New York (UPI) — Keep your child alive and unharmed this Halloween.

Make sure the young 'uns turned spook, skeleton, cat or some other mysterious type bone up on safety before sailing through the neighborhood for fearful reasons.

Even a happy looking thing like a jack-o-lantern can bring tears from pain to a youngster who hasn't learned the safety lessons.

Batteries

Safety experts recommend that the lanterns be illuminated with battery-operated lamps. But some persons still use a candle. The flicker makes it more hauntingly attractive.

Youngsters who have backed into the lanterns with candles have been burned. Some never lived to talk about the unhappy ending to a night promising only merriment.

The rule about jack-o-lanterns: Keep away from them. Be careful not to knock one over.

Safety Rules

The general safety rules for a harmless Halloween:

—Always look where you're going. Walk forward—not backward.

—Carry a flashlight, especially when your scare route follows roads without sidewalks.

—If the costume isn't bright enough to be easily seen by motorists, trim it with reflective tape. Put rings of the stuff around hems and cuffs of the spook outfit. Make a reflective design for back and front.

Chaperone

—Children should be accompanied by mom, dad, or another mature person. The chaperone can hide in the shadows when the trick-or-treat call is made.

—The mask that's safest has plenty of seeing and breathing room. The costume that's safest is flame-proof, large enough to be comfortable, but is not so large that it trips the wearer.

When your youngster happily and safely returns from frightening the neighbors out of their wits, there's safety of another sort to consider. Well-being of the stomach.

the next morning—demands control over the extent to which the mouth is stuffed with goodies harvested while spooking.

Where toddlers and preschool children are concerned, there's a caution also. It's psychologically sound to keep them from being scared to the point of nightmares by characters who call at your house.

One suggestion: Have a few of the first callers take off the frightening masks. This shows the child that it's all fun.

If the child doesn't get the message and runs to hide or screams when subsequent callers arrive, have them all unmask.

Maine Reels After Two Wintry Blows

Portland, Maine (AP) — A second major storm in two days left Maine reeling under as much as a foot and a half of snow Wednesday.

Five persons were lost in northern wilderness areas in near-blizzard conditions. Two others walked out of the woods safely after being missing overnight.

The coastal storm swept in on the heels of Hurricane Ginny, which had battered the state with rain, snow, and gale force winds Tuesday. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Portland said the new storm would deposit up to six inches of snow on top of the previous day's accumulations, which went as high as 13 inches.

Sudden Switch

The sudden switch from the Indian summer of last weekend caught hunters and mountain climbers unprepared.

A Massachusetts woman and a forest ranger who went searching for her were both reported lost on mile-high Mt. Katahdin.

Two young airmen stationed at Loring Air Force Base in Limestone were missing after leaving on a hunting trip, while two other hunters from the base spent Tuesday night in the woods but found their way out Wednesday. A Bangor hunter who became lost Monday before the storms struck also was being sought.

Sleep Bluffs

Lost on gale-swept Mt. Katahdin—in an area of steep bluffs now coated with snow—were Mrs. Margaret Ivusie, about 50, of Boston, and Ranger Ralph Heath, 37, of Sherman.

Mrs. Ivusie and Mrs. Ellen Moore of Concord, Mass., had begun climbing the peak in balmy weather over the weekend. Heath began a search for Mrs. Ivusie after Mrs. Moore came to his station on the mountain late Monday and said her friend was exhausted.

The two airmen, caught while hunting near the Canadian border, are Charles Balonis, 21, of Weymouth, Mass., and Larry Baker, 20, of Charles City, Iowa. Those who walked out of the woods in other areas were Col. John Kattan and S.Sgt. Vervyle E. Knowles.

Still missing in woodlands at Edinburg is Charles Jellison, 69, of Bangor.

17 Register As Lobbyists In Legislature

The number of lobbyists registered for the special session of the Legislature nearly doubled Wednesday.

Seventeen persons registered with the secretary of state, bringing the new total to 39. Among those from out of the state were Alan Griswood and Jack H. Ducate, both of Dallas, Tex., both representing Sears, Roebuck and Co., and William M. Busch of South Bend, Ind., representing Associates Discount Corp.

Others:

James L. Brown, Lincoln, Insurance Federation of Nebraska; W. D. Ali, Omaha, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.; Arlen March, Omaha, Nebraska State Legislative Committee of the Brotherhood of Railway and Air Line Employees; Lincoln, Nebraska State Grange; M. J. Graham, Lincoln, Retail Merchants Association of Nebraska; R. A. Skochdopole, Omaha, Associated Retailers of Omaha; C. R. Takes Effect Friday

BEN BELLA AND HASSAN SIGN

Bamako, Mali (AP) — King Hassan II of Morocco and President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria signed a cease-fire agreement Wednesday.

The chiefs of state pledged themselves to halt the shooting in their Sahara war at midnight Friday and submit to the Organization of African Unity their dispute about where the frontier should run.

Signed

Hassan and Ben Bella signed the agreement before more than 100 newsmen in the Bamako presidential palace.

Other signers were Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, who intervened personally in an effort to settle the month-old conflict, and the host of the little summit conference, President Modibo Kelta of Mali.

By coincidence, about the time the truce agreement was reached the Moroccan government in Marrakech announced a flareup of fighting.

35 Captured

Defense Minister Mahjoubi Ahardane told newsmen in Morocco's summer capital that Moroccan troops captured 35 Algerians in an all-night battle around the outposts of Merkala and Oum El Achar, near ore-rich Tindouf. Staff officers said Moroccans seized Oum El Achar from its Algerian garrison. About 40 Algerians were said to have been killed in action around Tindouf Tuesday.

Ahardane said further fighting broke out around Figuil, far to the northeast, near the end of the defined part of the border between the two nations. He gave no details.

The Bamako agreement calls for an immediate end to the campaigns of abuse in the press and radio of Algeria and Morocco against each other's leaders.

To Withdraw

Moroccan troops are to withdraw from all the desert area they occupy which is claimed by Algeria and the area is to be a demilitarized zone under supervision of Ethiopian and Mali officers pending a final settlement.

Hassan and Ben Bella agreed to submit their dispute to a special meeting of the Organization of African Unity. This will try to establish responsibility for the outbreak of hostilities and will also seek an agreement on the border line.

Both leaders agreed to respect each other's territory. Each promised to refrain from any interference in the other's internal affairs and undertook to settle any future dispute by peaceful means.

No Statements

All four chiefs of state sat at a long oak table to sign four red-bound copies of the agreement. Their ministers and advisers stood behind them. No statements were issued.

Hassan and Ben Bella shook hands after signing all the copies. Hassan smiled. Ben Bella's face remained grave.

HOUSE MIGHT LET PAY POTATO COOL

Washington (AP)—The House was handed a hot potato Wednesday—a bill raising the pay of 1.8 million government workers, including $10,000 a year increases for members of Congress.

Similar increases for the vice president, Supreme Court justices and cabinet officers are included in the bill, with the scale going down to an average $100-a-year increase at the lowest-level jobs.

What members of the House have to decide is whether they want to vote themselves a nearly 50% pay boost in order to give their colleagues in government higher salaries.

One member gave a quick answer. No sooner had the House Post Office Committee approved the bill than Rep. Eugene Siler, R-Ky., called it "unscrupulous and untimely."

He might get an argument on the first, but very few House members feel the bill is timely. Having promised to hold down spending when they passed a big tax-cut bill earlier this year, the congressmen have the thought of being called on to vote to raise their own pay.

Yet, no one would expect Congress to raise the pay of other officials and not its own, especially when the proposed increases would boost several grades of government workers above the $22,500 salary now paid Congress members.

Study Made
Higher executive-level salary increases were proposed by the administration after a commission appointed to study federal salaries concluded the present scale prevented the government from getting the kind of men needed to run it efficiently.

The bill would raise the pay of Supreme Court justices from $35,000 to $45,000; the vice president and speaker of the House from $35,000 to $45,000; cabinet officers from $25,000 to $35,000, and members of Congress from $22,500 to $32,500.

At the management level in the various agencies, salaries would go up from about $19,000 to $28,000.

But, given the delicate relationship between salaries at the many different levels of government work, none of the proposals are likely to pass unless congressional pay is raised.

Congress hasn't had a pay raise since 1955, at which time it jumped itself $10,000 from the $12,500 that had prevailed since 1946. Before that, the pay held at $10,000 for 20 years.

One member of Congress who thinks he's worth $32,500 is Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, and he has a suggestion for his colleagues who think they aren't. After Siler denounced the bill on the House floor, Hays proposed that each member sign up for what he thinks he's worth at the start of each session.

Hays' proposal is unlikely to be acted on, and the same could be true of the pay bill. There is a great lack of enthusiasm to bring it to the floor, and the hot potato might be left to cool off for quite a while.

It took Anna Marie 10 years to win the partnership, advancing from office girl, apprentice machinist and journeyman.

Catholics Declare That Bishops Share Authority

Vatican City (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council Wednesday approved a declaration backed by Pope Paul VI that bishops share authority with the pontiff in the government of the Roman Catholic Church.

In an historic action, the council fathers overwhelmingly affirmed a theological doctrine asserting that bishops "by divine right" share "full and supreme authority over the universal church" with the Pope.

The doctrine, expected to be welcomed by members of non-Catholic Christian churches, will be incorporated into the document "On the Church" which the fathers finished debating Wednesday. It still must be drafted into final form.

Momentous
In another momentous action, the council voted for the restoration of the ancient order of deacons in the sacred ministry of the church. The deacons will be ordained clergymen performing some but not all duties of priests. They may be permitted to marry although the text approving this has not received final approval.

The vote giving bishops joint authority with the pope in no way diminishes the supreme position of the pontiff. But it does strike effectively at the power of the Roman Curia. The curia is the administrative body which traditionally has been conservative and often usurped executive authority.

Theologians interpreted the proposed doctrine of a "collegial" body of bishops sharing authority with the pope as complementing the doctrine of papal supremacy.

One council source stressed the historic importance of the vote by saying that the doctrine of collegiality converted the Catholic Church "from a monarchy into an oligarchy," thus making the bishops partners rather than agents of the pope.

Wednesday's votes were taken on proposals brought to the floor by the four moderators appointed by Pope Paul to direct council proceedings.

The first proposal asked the council fathers to say if they agreed that the consecration of the bishops is the peak of the sacrament of orders. The consecration of bishops is not a sacrament now, although the ordaining of a priest is.

The next three proposals asked if bishops form a body together, if that body of "collegium" succeeds the college of Christ's apostles and in union with the pope enjoys full and supreme power over the universal church, and finally if it exercises that power by divine right.

A fifth proposal asked whether the fathers favored restoring the New Testament order of Deacons as a distinct and permanent rank in the church.

Police Prepared For Halloween

Lincoln has had very little trouble over the past few years with Halloween pranks, police Capt. Robert Sawdon said Thursday night. "We do not expect this Halloween to be too much different than in previous years," he added.

Police will have 12 cruisers and five motorcycles beside the regular beat patrolmen on duty, Lt. R. J. McMeen said.

$2 Million Post Office To Be Built In Lincoln

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Construction of a new $2 million Lincoln Post Office is to begin in late 1964, Gov. Frank Morrison announced Wednesday after a telephone conference with a Washington postal official.

The proposed two-story building containing 111,000 square feet will occupy a two-block tract, unofficially indicated as between R and T, 7th and 8th.

Morrison said the new facility was described as a "modern mail-handling factory," but said he could not pinpoint its location other than to say it would adjoin the Burlington tracks north of the railroad's depot.

The Burlington owns the two-block tract and a Washington official said representatives would meet with the Burlington next week to discuss site possibilities.

Another source said the two-block area with the intervening street vacated would provide the required 400-by-700-foot area. A portion of a third block would be acquired to provide a 70-foot street right-of-way for truck maneuvering facilities.

Will Take Bids

After site options are acquired by the government, the General Services Administration will take bids for the construction and lease-rental of the new building.

The successful bidder will contract to buy the land at the fixed price, build the new Post Office to the government's requirements and lease the building at a fixed rental on a 30-year lease.

A Post Office Department spokesman said a site location would be announced later this year and bids would be asked for construction of the facility "about a year from now."

The intervening period would be occupied by final determination of postal requirements and architectural designing of the new building, he said.

All postal space now occupied in the present Post Office building would be turned over to the GSA and probably used for additional office space for other federal agencies.

Court to Remain
The U.S. District Court and related offices and other federal agencies occupy the upper floors of the building and are expected to remain there.

The new Post Office will combine city mail and terminal mail processing now done at the Main Post Office at 10th and O and at the Burlington Depot.

All postal offices and services would also be transferred to the new building.

A downtown postal station, probably in a building or store in a more central downtown business district location on a contract or bid basis, would handle stamps, money orders and parcel post.

Major services for postal patrons as well as large mailers and box holders would be located in the new Post Office.

Postmaster Kenneth Lewis said the new building would have "adequate parking for patrons" and provide the "badly needed dock facilities and truck maneuvering area lacking at the present location."

The new facility would be designed to accommodate anticipated Lincoln growth over the next 25 years. The present building was constructed 60 years ago.

The Post Office move will probably require the Burlington to relocate its freight-handling facilities and the relocation of the Railway Express Agency at 342 No. 7th.

GSA To Construct New Building Here

A new $10-$11 million General Services Administration (GSA) building to house federal agencies in Lincoln is planned, but any construction is at least two to three years away.

Sen. Carl Curtis announced plans Wednesday after he, Rep. Ralph Beermann, Mayor Dean Petersen and Dean Pohlenz, who represented Sen. Roman Hruska, conferred with Robert Daly, commissioner of the GSA's public building service in Washington.

Under present planning, Sen. Curtis estimated site acquisition and building design funds would be received in 1965 or 1966 fiscal years.

After congressional authorization of these funds, the senator indicated that actual construction could commence within a year.

Sen. Curtis said the GSA plan involves a building of about 243,000 square feet exclusive of corridors and service areas.

He said the government-owned structure would place under one roof all of the federal agencies now scattered over the city.

"The federal government is now paying $362,000 annually for rentals in Lincoln," Sen. Curtis said, and the GSA want the new building for economy of operation, particularly in maintenance and communication, and convenience to the public.

A GSA spokesman said funds for site acquisition and building design would be sought in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965, or possibly the following year, in the present programming.

He emphasized no prospectus report had yet been sent to congressional committees on public works, a necessary step before the appropriation may be sought.

Need Established
However, the GSA has established a definite need for such a building and this was disclosed at the meeting with the Nebraska delegation, he said.

No location has been proposed for the GSA building, but Mayor Dean Petersen said the site "would probably be in the downtown Lincoln core area."

Petersen said he was "surprised" how far the GSA had advanced in its planning as disclosed at the meeting.

Mayor Petersen said he understood that the 342,000 square-foot not proposed for the building does not include the 100,000 square feet that will continue to be occupied in the present U.S. Post Office and Courthouse building at 10th and O.

The Federal Court and other federal offices will continue to occupy the building with other federal offices occupying the space to be vacated by the Post Office when its new $2 million facility is constructed, he understood.

Informed sources indicated that one full block would be sought for the GSA building and that it would not necessarily be located near the present 10th and P Federal Building.

Utica Not Among Top 3 Winners In Grange Contest

Washington — Granges in Illinois, Oregon and Virginia have been selected as the top three winners of the Community Service Contest sponsored by National Grange and the Sears Roebuck Foundation. The ranking which will determine the distribution of the $10,000 first, $5,000 second and $3,000 third place cash awards will be announced at an Awards Ceremony Nov. 13 during the 97th annual session of the National Grange in Portland, Ore.

Granges placing among the top three are Shiloh Valley Grange near Mascoutah, Illinois; North Lincoln Grange near Del Lake, Oregon and Goodwill Grange of Grant, Virginia.

Utica Grange of Utica, Neb., was among those receiving honorable mention.

Methodists To Study Shortage Of Ministers

Omaha (AP) — The crucial shortage of Methodist ministers in Nebraska will be the main topic of discussion at the "Bishops' Mission on the Ministry" to be held at the Omaha Municipal Auditorium Nov. 6.

Eighteen Methodist churches in Nebraska are being served by non-Methodist ministers and a large number of Methodist churches are being served by "accepted supply pastors" — persons who have not had the necessary education and training to qualify them as full members of the conference, according to the Methodist information office.

To provide new ministers for the midwest, Nebraska Methodist laymen are conducting a drive to raise $700,000 of a $5 million goal for a new seminary in Kansas City, Mo.

Driver License Deadline Today

Motorists have until 4:30 p.m. Thursday to renew their driver's licenses.

Drivers who fail to renew within the deadline will have to take an examination to get a new license.

License renewals are handled by the Motor Vehicle License Division, in the basement of the Courthouse.

No Letdown

Vineland, N.J. (AP) — Manuel B. Corson, an undertaker for 25 years and Republican candidate for Cumberland County Coroner in the Nov. 5 election, has as his campaign slogan: "Vote for Corson—He'll be the last one to let you down."

36-Bed Addition Is Scheduled For Behlen Hospital

Columbus (AP) — A 36-bed addition will be built to the present Lutheran Hospital here and the hospital will be renamed the Behlen Memorial Hospital.

R. I. Schacht, president of the hospital board, said: "We are delighted the Behlen family has seen fit to honor our request to change the name of the hospital to Behlen Memorial."

The cost of the new addition will be $900,000. The cost will be shared by fund drive conducted in the city of Columbus and by the Lutheran Hospital and Home Society.

Walter Behlen, president of the Behlen Manufacturing Co., was chairman of the fund raising campaign.

Schacht said the Behlen family contributed $80,000 to the fund drive.

Police Holding Six In Assault, Robbery Case

Police Wednesday night were holding six persons for investigation in connection with the assault and robbery of Wayne Plachy, 833 South Plachy.

Plachy told police the incident occurred Tuesday night near 11th and Dawes.

Capt. Robert Sawdon said the men were drinking in a downtown bar and invited Plachy to their home. Plachy told police they beat him and stole $438 in cash and checks, took his billfold and wristwatch.

Plachy was treated for minor head wounds and released from a local hospital, Sawdon said.

Sawdon said the six would be taken to the Lancaster County Attorney's office Thursday morning.

School Reorganization OK'd Under New Law

Brewster (AP) — Voters in four school districts have approved a school reorganization plan involving parts of Blaine, Thomas and Custer Counties in an election held under the newly revised school re-districting law.

The plan calls for establishment of a four-year high school and a unit composed of kindergarten, first and second grades at Halsey plus kindergarten - through-eighth grade attendance centers at Dunning and Purdum. The effective date is June 30, 1964.

Formerly the territory involved included a rural high school at Halsey plus several K-8 districts whose graduates advanced to the rural high school at Halsey.

One voting unit composed of a class 2, or K-12 district approved the plan 138-6. A second unit consisting of a Class 1 or K-8 district in which an incorporated town (Halsey) is located, approved the plan 96-1, and the third unit, made up of two Class 1 districts in which there was no incorporated town, approved it 39-29.

A simple majority was necessary in each voting unit for approval under the new law. Formerly all like districts would have voted as a unit, that is the second and third voting units would have voted together.

Under the new law plan not only were the locations of school units designated, but an initial board membership was designated in the four wards provided in the plan. Two board members were provided for each of two wards and one member or each of the other two wards.

Bankers To Hold Group Meetings

WINDSOR Supreme CANADIAN Whisky

"The Elegant Canadian"

Do not buy another bottle of your usual brand of whiskey until you read the story of this remarkable Canadian

- Here are all the amazing facts about an elegant Canadian that can change your current thinking about whiskey
- 1. Smoothest of all! Windsor Canadian whisky is unconditionally smoother-tasting than any whiskey on the market! Compare it for yourself and see. Sip from a drink made with your present brand and then sip from a drink made with Windsor. You will be amazed to discover that there are no "rough edges" going down when you sip the drink made with Windsor. Absolutely smoother.
 - 2. Finer-tasting as a great Canadian should be. Windsor Canadian has all the traditional mellow flavor and the elegant fine taste that mark it as a great Canadian whisky. You will find that you can enjoy it on the rocks, as a sipping whisky or with your preferred mix. Whichever way you choose to drink it, Windsor's subtle, light flavor is a pleasure you will not forget and one you will feel proud to share.
 - 3. The remarkable price. If you are one of those who prefer drinking an import as your regular whiskey but have always hesitated because of price, Windsor is for you. Compare the price of Windsor with other fine imported whiskeys—you'll see you can buy it for much less. Compare the price of Windsor with the leading so-called popular priced whiskeys—the whiskey you're currently buying—you'll see that Windsor is priced almost the same, or just a few pennies more. Yet Windsor is a fine import...with all the smoothness and elegance you are entitled to expect. If you've been looking for an impressive and elegant import with an "everyday" whiskey price, then Windsor Canadian is for you.
 - 4. The reputation of the sponsor. Windsor Canadian is proudly presented in this country by National Distillers, sponsors of some of the best-known liquor brands in the world. The reputation of National Distillers as a purveyor of quality liquors is an added assurance for you of the superior quality of this unique whisky.
 - 5. You owe it to yourself to try Windsor Canadian. Once you do you'll think twice before you go back to your usual brand again. Remember: It's imported. The smoothest. With satisfying fine taste. Windsor Canadian.

The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada

Variety Of Answers

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Both Beatrice and Lincoln have taken actions recently that should be of interest to the general public. Both the actions are complicated in that an absolute and final analysis of them is all but impossible. In the case of Beatrice, the action centered around a problem of annexation. The city apparently wanted to bring into its limits a large industry located on the outskirts of town.

The industry, however, did not want to come into the city and apparently had the support of the Gage County Board of Commissioners. The latter is important because there is a state law by which county boards can designate an area as an industrial tract and forever hold it out of municipal jurisdiction. The law is a poor one and should never have been placed on the books, regardless of the merit or lack of it in the Beatrice case. We are not familiar with all the details of the Beatrice case and thus cannot attempt to say exactly what should or should not have been done there.

As a general rule, however, it is poor practice to entice industry with tax exemption. There are a hundred and one arguments in favor of the idea but they all fall flat in the face of any test of fairness. Any way you try to cut it, there is no equity in one business or industry paying taxes while another gets off scot-free.

Nor is there any equity when a business or industry is tax exempt and a home owner pays his full share of the tax levy. You can argue all night that an industry will pay its way in a variety of ways but so does everything and everyone else. His tax payment is not the only contribution made by a home owner to his community but the other assets he represents have never been considered cause for tax exemption.

It was argued in Beatrice that the industry in question was a big electrical user, that its greatest demand came in the winter where it helped even out the load of the local utility and thereby contributed to a more efficient operation. So what? There are many home owners who will use more electricity in the winter than in summer and vice versa. There are others who will use more natural gas one time than another, more water and more or less of many things at different times of the year. One can sympathize with the people of Beatrice who, very understandably, do not want to run the risk of losing an important industry. It is a little hard to sympathize with the industry, however, that simply blackmails a community into giving it tax exemption.

For the benefit of those who might advise that we examine our own back yard, it can be said that all of this applies to the Lincoln industrial tract south of the city which should be but is not a part of the city of Lincoln because the City Council was too weak to put the area on the tax rolls. When a municipality begins to wonder why it is that its people will not support certain projects, why the government seems to lack understanding and popularity, all it needs to do is look at some of the things such as industrial tax exemption in order to find the answer. In the long run, the city that practices industrial tax exemption will fail, not prosper.

Something somewhat akin to this took place this week in Lincoln with City Council authorization of a $3,695,000 sanitary sewer revenue bond issue. The bonds will be sold without any advance vote on them by the people and without any bids.

The sale without a vote is permitted for revenue bonds under the city charter, a questionable practice but a matter of law about which nothing can now be done. The negotiation of the sale rather than the taking of bids, also, is presumably legal under the charter. No express provision for this can be found but charter wording would seem to give to the City Council the latitude it needs to permit a negotiated sale rather than a bid sale.

It is really difficult to find anything wrong with this particular sale as the plan worked out will bring the city a good interest rate and will save Lincoln money in the years ahead. Much of the sale will be for the refunding of old bonds sold with a rate much higher than can now be obtained. Also, it is reliably reported that it is custom across the country to negotiate sales that include funds for refunding of past issues. The major objective here is to avoid embarrassment through a refunding sale that must be cancelled because bids are not favorable enough.

Thus, the situation in this particular case would seem to be justified and perfectly legal. The procedure here, however, is not one that should be followed as a matter of routine and it is assumed that the city will in the future, except where a refunding is involved, rely upon the sale of bonds through public bidding.

Along The Interstate

Two matters involving the Interstate Highway have been in the news this week. One involves signs along the road while the other involves plantings along the road. At a gathering in Grand Island, the state's existing sign policies came under attack of certain business interests.

The state prohibits general advertising signs along the Interstate in compliance with a federal law. In turn, the state receives a billboard regulation bonus of 1/2 of 1 percent of the cost of the Interstate, figured to be a total of $1,500,000.

Naturally, those who want to advertise along the Interstate are against the law. It is hoped that Nebraska does not weaken in this matter and permit the littering of the countryside along the Interstate with a multitude of signs. This is exactly what would happen if there were no law on the matter.

The Interstate can be adequately marked under the law to give the driving public all the information it needs. Things that people want to advertise can be advertised to the driver after he leaves the Interstate for services and in other commercial ways.

Plantings along the Interstate are advocated by Game Commission Director Mel Steen as a means of providing permanent snow fencing as well as cover for game and beautifying the landscape. This is one place where Nebraska has fallen short. Where it has planted the right-of-way, it is an attractive asset but it has not done nearly enough.

Again, it is hoped that the recommendation of Mr. Steen is taken to heart. Nebraska could become widely known for the beauty of its countryside if it took a little time and money to embark upon such a program as Mr. Steen suggests. At the same time, it would add greatly to the convenience and safety of the driving public.

Dangerous Confusion

The administration's foreign aid measure is slated for a hard time in Congress. So is the National Science Foundation.

The House has already cut away 44 percent of the latter's budget request, approving only $323 million of the $589 million asked. Critics in the name of economy as well as those who take a qualitative view of the foreign aid program are combining for even greater austerity toward this activity's $4.2 billion budget request. A great number of the public is either acquiescing in these cuts or is indifferent.

The dollar economies to be effected are negligible in terms of the over-all national budget. The public relief will be proportionately small. But there has been a loss of perspective and a confusion of meanings.

The National Science Foundation supports basic scientific research, most of which is being performed in American universities and some specialized institutions. The spectrum is broad and the whole amounts to the seed bed from which our applied science grows. Injuring our basic research is akin to killing the goose that lays the golden egg. If we mean to stay abreast of the requirements of this scientific age, we are going at it the wrong way.

Our conception of foreign aid is also cloudy. The great part of it has never been of the do-good sort, but primarily a corollary of our overseas military position. Our aid to Nationalist China, to Korea, and Viet Nam is in the form of firming up friendly governments where we are confronting critical communist pressures.

Gone With The Wind

Recently the Des Moines Register paid tribute to a venerable Iowan who had made his mark in the world as an unusually successful auctioneer.

The old gentleman recalled that his success was not due to higher education. He said he learned the business as a young man by serving as auctioneer at box socials. It was reminiscent of many of the great orators of the past who acquired their skills at the meetings of the local lit-

Cigaret Report Said Devastating

Editor's Note—The Washington Merry-Go-Round today is written by Drew Pearson's associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—The tobacco tycoons are doing their best to delay and dilute the long-awaited presidential report on cigarettes and cancer, which should be ready to release by December 15.

Though elaborate precautions have been taken to make sure the report doesn't leak out before it can be edited, this column can state that the individual studies contain overwhelming evidence that smoking can cause not only lung cancer but heart, stomach, bronchial, and other ailments.

These studies are now being boiled down by Dr. Peter Hamill of the National Library of Medicine "to a report that should present a devastating case against the tobacco habit."

It will be submitted to pack-a-day smoker Anthony Celebrezze, the efficient, ebullient secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, who hasn't concealed his lack of enthusiasm for battling the tobacco interests.

He has made it plain that he doesn't consider it "the proper role of the federal government to tell citizens to stop smoking."

He puts smoking in the same category as overeating and over-drinking, insisting privately: "I don't believe that the prohibition of smoking by the federal government would be any more effective than the prohibition of alcohol."

An HEW spokesman assured this column, however, that Celebrezze believes the government has a duty to warn citizens against health hazards.

Celebrezze will send the report up to President Kennedy, who is even less anxious to get his fingers burned by the cigarette controversy. Certainly, he has no desire to antagonize tobacco state senators and congressmen while his civil rights reforms and tax cuts are still pending.

When the cigarette subject was brought up at a May, 1962, press conference, the President handled it like a butt that had burned down to his fingers.

"That matter is sensitive enough and the stock market is in sufficient difficulty without my giving you an answer," he hedged. "... perhaps I would be glad to respond to that question in more detail next week."

The following week, he turned the problem over to an advisory committee and announced happily that "The survey would take some months or go into 1963."

Now the survey is finished, and the President is confronted with another hot issue on the eve of his re-election campaign.

The loudest howls about the presidential report are coming from the Agriculture Department, which is more concerned about the tobacco crop than public health. If the report is made public on December 15, will the marketing men, it might hurt the December tobacco auctions.

The Best Weight Reducing Diet Is Still Not To Eat

NEW YORK — To the horror of nutritionists, I have long believed that the best way to take off weight is to stop eating.

It is the simplest, easiest, quickest and by far cheapest "diet" on record. When I read that Americans are spending more than a billion dollars a year on so-called "crash diets," most of which shrink nothing but their pocketbooks, it also seems the only sensible one.

Yet whenever I start my system (which begins with black coffee and ends with water), some self-styled expert is ready to bite my head off (which is the worst form of gluttony.)

They have the idea that I should at least eat a boiled egg in the morning, a banana at mid-day and some cottage cheese before going to bed. Gotta keep your strength up, they warn.

Well, nonsense. To each stomach his own system. For mine, 24 hours of rest is a delightful experience every now and then. The appetite quickly becomes so logy that it sometimes takes a week to become agitated and ravenous again. Meantime, the middle sinks in and the mental attitude soars up.

Still, the semi-professional "dieters" say it's unhealthy. You have to pussy-foot around the problem by eating salads sans dressing, lean beef without salt, coarse-grain breads without butter, and the like. This not only makes the "diet" do its job more slowly — it is a mental and emotional ordeal. I find it nicer to dream of good food than to sully the memory of it by consuming food in its duldest form.

In spite of the fact that "fast days" are an ancient practice, and that religions have long felt them to be good only for the soul — and not harmful to the body — it is believed in this overfed society of ours that not everyone can afford the curious luxury of total abstinence. It is felt that a stomach left empty, even for a day, may completely undermine the health of even a 250 pounder who, if the truth were known, could quite possibly live off his excess fat — and vitamin pills — for a long time before sagging at the knees.

Outside of my own, the best diet I ever saw was one recommended a few years ago by a magazine. It was a "wham diet," designed to prepare every bride to sink into a size 10 wedding gown. The "wham" called for only liquids: a small glass of tomato juice, and as much black coffee or unsugared tea as you like, each day. The only solid food — up to 10 prunes every 24 hours. To top it off, one succulent all-purpose vitamin pill.

The magazine pointed out that, in talking with nutritionists about the "wham!" it had received "no good stars for a balanced food program."

But the physicians "allowed as how it certainly wouldn't hurt you."

There, you see?

And the only real difference between that doctor-approved diet and mine is that theirs is full of prunes.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: My year-old grandson is a "borderline mongoloid." The doctor says the boy can be put in a home for retarded children, but my son and his wife don't want that, at least not yet. If I can give them any hope, I want to do it. What do you advise? Please explain mongolism.—MRS. J.L.

Molner

Mongolism has been traced to the presence of an extra chromosome in each cell, and it evidently must be present from the time of conception.

The results of mongolism are both physical and mental. In some cases a glance is enough to tell that a child is mongoloid; other times appearance and behavior may be such that a casual observer may not notice anything awry—the "borderline case."

The parents must think carefully about whether the child should go to a home for retarded children—what is best for him; whether they are in a position to take care of him themselves; what the effect might be if there are other children. Putting him in a home does not (or rather need not and should not) mean shutting him out of their lives. Visits there can be frequent.

Such a child, unless he can be brought up in a permanently sheltered environment, is likely to be happier, less frustrated, less "lost," among others who are like him, retarded.

Don't try to give the parents hope. Rather, they must accept facts, and not indulge in wishes which have no chance of coming true.

The retarded child, and this may be particularly true of the mongoloid, is affectionate and needs affection. Recognizing his limitations is one thing. Loving him is another. You can love him just as much. Perhaps more.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the principal of a Thomas collar for treating a crushed disc of the neck? How does this relieve pain in both arms? How long must it be worn?—L. L.

We have to start with an understanding that "pain"—or any other sensation—is not felt until the impulses reach the brain.

If we burn a finger, we know it only when ends of the nerves, damaged by the burn, have sent their outraged signals to the brain. The pain tracts are in the spinal cord, the nerves to the extremities emerging from the cord.

The point at which they emerge is important, for they must pass between the bones of the spine. Let's say that one of the discs, between these bones, is damaged with the result that a nerve is pinched at that point.

The pinched nerve sends its "pain" response to the brain—but to us it may seem to be a "pain in the arm."

The Thomas collar acts essentially as a splint. It limits motion of the spine in the region of the neck: it relieves or prevents muscle spasm, and it holds the vertebrae, or bones of the neck, apart just enough to prevent irritation or "pinching" of the nerve at the damaged point.

That's why the collar can relieve pain in both arms.

The length of time the collar must be worn is quite variable, depending on the severity of pain without it, the relief afforded by wearing it, and sometimes other technical factors.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does aplastic anemia have anything to do with leukemia? I have heard different versions.—MRS. K.

Strictly speaking, no. Aplastic anemia means that the formation of blood cells has been depressed, usually due to some toxic agent.

The different versions you have heard are probably quite understandable, though. For example, it has been reported that poisons such as benzol can cause a blood condition resembling (but not related to) leukemia.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have excess fat on my thighs and stomach. I exercise each day but it's not helping at all. No matter how hard I try to hold my stomach in, there's always a bulge somewhere else.—A. H.

Let's call a spade a spade, you need to lose some weight! Few of us have perfect figures. The thighs and stomach are natural areas for fat deposition. Total weight reduction is your only recourse. Regional weight reduction is hard to achieve but any loss will lower the dimension of your thighs and abdomen.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please comment on the value of "ultra-sonic sound" in treatment of neuritis. Are there any inherent dangerous aftereffects?—MRS. C. H.

I'll comment to this extent: The treatment doesn't seem to be predictable. Perhaps we don't know enough about it yet. I had 20 such treatments for chronic bursitis without any results that I could detect. Yet a friend of mine took six treatments for bursitis and they worked like a charm. (In my case, deep X-ray finally was successful.)

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Copyright, 1963, Publishers Newspaper Synd.

Today's Lawyers

Lincoln, Neb.

The true bill for the moral laxness of this 20th Century should be returned where it belongs—not against the educators, the police, the clergy, but against the lawyers.

They were the ones who could have forestalled it. But the lure of tainted silver was too strong in their eyes. They were handicapped, sure, in that they could not bring the taxpayers' suits in their capacity as lawyers, but they could have brought them as citizens. It was easier to look the other way and let the dirt be swept under the rug.

One crusading white lawyer in a southern county could have secured the right to vote for many Negroes, had he had the nerve. One crusading lawyer in a northern county could have returned fraudulent tax-exempt property to the tax rolls. One will seldom find a lawyer engaging in either private or public debate with a layman citizen. They reason that should they lose, it would only add stature to the other side.

Nor do they reason that their greatest calling should be the unmasking of error. Granted, the lawyer's life is hard. He must devote untold hours to the study of his profession. But then his satisfactions are by the same token much greater. What greater feeling than to see an unjustly accused client turned free from the clutches of the law?

The lawyers have pilloried their self-respect as guardians of liberty. There are no more Paines, Websters, Hinds, Cardozas, Holmeses and Darrows. They were a generation unto themselves. The most sodden wretch of a lawyer, Sam Adams, was the mightiest spark of the Revolution. He lived for it. Where are their like today?

The lawyer stands, not only in this country but all over the world, indicted at the bar of justice for saying: "I will take a bird in the hand as against the two in the bush."

LB21 Reconsidered

Lincoln, Neb.

It is most commendable that Senator Marvin Stromer of Lincoln and Senator T. C. Reeves of Central City are bringing up LB21, the much debated bottle club bill, for further consideration in the special session on Friday, November 1, at 2:00 p.m. This should be one of the largest hearings in recent years.

Senator Stromer is presenting a bill to tighten and strengthen the bottle club operation by amending Sunday opening hours, etc. If enacted into law, this should prove beneficial to the entire state. Senator Reeves is calling for complete annulment of the law. This is a bold legislative step and should be supported by all the good citizens of Lincoln and Nebraska.

Any bill enacted by a state legislature causing so large a measure of discontent, misunderstanding, criticism, debate, preferential treatment and with denial of public franchise deserves but one destiny — death. Then let another bill arise, more fairly written, which would place clubs under legal control without the ill-favored elements of LB21.

Glass Houses

Lincoln, Neb.

Americans have been pretty free with their hoots of derision and comedians all over our country have had a field day with England's recent troubles involving moral scandals in high government circles. We may have thought it disgraceful, but we regarded the whole matter with a great deal of humor, too.

Now the hollow sounds of our laughter seem to be coming home to roost in our own national capital. If the truth were known, the goings on in Washington would probably make the Profumo affair seem pretty mild by comparison.

trast, Washington and those who abide there, our astute lawmakers and all who go to make up our government are many things. But saints they ain't.

The impractical but very good theory has been advanced from time to time that Washington should be completely eradicated and we should start over again. Better still, let's tear it down — and not start over.

To Distinguish

Lincoln, Neb.

Our vaunted civilization is founded on the freedom of speech and press, and the essence of pure and unadulterated religion is founded on the reality of fact, truth and right that conform to the laws of the eternal that are the same yesterday, today and forever.

Pure religion unites and false religion divides. To clearly distinguish between them, one must not only state positively what it is, but must state negatively what it is not.

Long Marriages Tend To Equalize Couples' Looks

By ROBERT PETERSON

Maybe one of these days scientists will be able to tell us just why husbands and wives who have been married for decades tend to resemble each other.

I've attended a hundred golden wedding anniversary parties and in just about every case have made the private observation that—by golly—the husband and his bride of half a century do indeed resemble each other.

It is probably because each has a buffeting effect on the other. Each tries unconsciously to get his partner to conform to his standard or point of view. And because humans are essentially imitative, each unknowingly copies some of the other's features and mannerisms.

Over the years they tend to eat the same kind and quantity of food, and this probably gives their figures, coloring and skin texture somewhat similar qualities.

They have experienced much the same emotions and it is reasonable that the expressions on their faces and the outlook of their eyes should have quantities in common.

And it's likely that in making his original selection each was drawn toward someone with characteristics and features not too dissimilar from his own.

A family with sons seems to get by better financially than one with daughters. A frustrated, 48-year-old sales manager told me recently that for some two decades his four daughters have kept him alternating between feverish devotion and financial exasperation.

"Ever since they were tykes they've loved clothes," he said. "And they were barely in their teens when they discovered summer camps, high heels, cosmetics and 'phonograph records.' But these bills were nothing compared with the assault on my fairly modest income when they entered college. When they finally finished school I thought I was off the hook."

"But now another major assault is in the making, for they've all got boy friends and there's talk of church weddings and champagne receptions."

"I've told each girl privately that I'll give her $500 and a ladder to the second story window if she'll do me a favor and elope."

"I'm saving up to buy my wife a surprise for my birthday."

Many of us seem to get only a one-time thrill out of a given experience and have no desire to repeat it. Last summer in Paris a group of retirees asked me to hop aboard and join them on a city tour. When the bus stopped at the Louvre every one got off except an old gentleman who said he'd stay and wait for the others. The guide said, "Well, at least come in and see the Mona Lisa." But he shook his head. "Saw it last time I was here," he replied, "back in 1912."

Jerry Atrick says, "When you feel like criticizing the younger generation, just remember who raised them."

Young Journalists Will 'Learn By Doing'

High school journalists will "Learn by Doing" at the 32nd annual convention of the Nebraska High School Press Association at the University of Nebraska Friday.

Some 400 students are expected to attend the event which will include a series of journalism workshops on newspaper and yearbook production, radio-television broadcasting, and advertising.

The general session will begin at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Nebraska Union with Roger Fielder of Columbus presiding. The "Learn by Doing" theme will be carried out in morning and afternoon workshops.

Guest speaker at the noon luncheon will be Dr. Robert Manley, assistant professor of history at the university, who will present "Nebraska Trails," an illustrated talk with musical accompaniment.

John Sandoz of Creighton Prep, Omaha, will preside at the luncheon. Separate luncheons will be held for students in advertising and radio-television.

Awards for outstanding high school yearbooks and newspapers will be presented at the banquet Friday evening. The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. in the Union. Sponsors of the awards include: Station KMTV at Omaha, Hastings Tribune, Scottsbluff Star-Herald, Omaha World-Herald, Nebraska Psychiatric Institute and Gamma Alpha Chi, advertising honorary. Delores Smith of Waverly will preside at the banquet.

Dr. Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, associate professor of Spanish at the university, will speak at the banquet. His topic will be "The Alliance for Progress—Hope for the Future."

University faculty members and students and high school advisers will conduct the morning and afternoon workshops, according to James Morrison, member of the university staff and secretary of the association.

Following the workshops in advertising and radio-television, students participating will be guests of the Lincoln Advertising Club on a tour of Lincoln radio and television stations.

Kelley, Roberts' Wheat Champs

... Bison, Cheyenne Grain Win

Ogallala—Fifteen pounds of Bison wheat and a like amount of Cheyenne wheat won grand championships at the 1963 Nebraska Wheat Show here.

The Bison was entered by Robert Kelly of Indianola in the market wheat division. It beat out 173 other entries.

The Cheyenne wheat was the best of 162 entries in the certified seed division. It was entered by Rolland and Darrell Roberts of Bayard.

A sample of Bison also won the reserve championship in market wheat for Ellis E. Hickman of Bushnell; Clifford Luth of Ravenna had the reserve champion certified seed wheat with a sample of Ottawa.

Class winners in the market division were:

Ex-Gage ASCS Clerk's Part In Contract Sought

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Beatrice—What part a former chief clerk in the Gage County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office had as operator of a farm where a request has been made for a refund on ineligible acres in the soil bank is receiving the close scrutiny of the state and Gage County ASCS offices.

When Mrs. Margaret Boyer, elderly Beatrice widow, recently sold her life interest in a 200 acre farm east of Barneston to her step-children, the buyers, Albert and Eugene Boyer and Mrs. Florence Eastwood, learned that 11.8 acres in the soil bank had been included which were ineligible. Operators of Mrs. Boyer's farm was Dwight York, former chief clerk of the Gage County ASCS office and now office manager of the Richardson County ASCS office.

Special inquiry has resulted on the part of the Gage County and state ASCS offices concerning a contract between Mrs. Boyer and York allowing York 40% of the near $2,200 yearly soil bank payment.

York, whose name and signature originally appeared on the report of acreage designating him as operator was later scratched out on the ASCS record with Mrs. Boyer shown as operator and her signature made on the certification of crops and land uses of the farm.

On Sept. 30, 1963, Mrs. Boyer was advised by the Gage County ASCS office that, "a review of the county office records and aerial photos verifies the fact to the satisfaction of the Gage County ASCS committee that the 11.8 acres should not have been accepted as eligible land."

Mrs. Boyer was billed for three years payment on the ineligible acreage for a total of $195.60, in a letter signed by Clyde Rathbun, Gage County ASCS chairman.

What makes teen-agers so destructive?

What are we going to do about hostile, unemployed teen-agers? Over a million out-of-school youngsters under 20 have literally nothing to do—except be senselessly destructive!

Reader's Digest presents a study of this explosive situation—which concerns not only parents but all of us—in an article called "The Tense Generation" condensed from Look. Get the November Reader's Digest now on sale.

Last Breakfast Slated Tuesday

Washington (AP)—The Nebraska congressional delegation will hold its last weekly breakfast of the year next Tuesday.

Rep. Ralph Beermann, chairman of the group, said attendance has dropped because various members are back home for speaking engagements scheduled when it was thought Congress would be adjourned by now.

Schweitzer Pleads For Abolition Of Atomic Weapons

Hastings (AP)—A letter from Dr. Albert Schweitzer, famed physician and missionary, voicing a plea for the abolition of atomic weapons, was read to a Hastings College convocation.

Dr. Schweitzer volunteered to write the letter to present day students of Hastings because of his friendship with Dr. Elinore Barber of the Hastings College faculty and because of the work she and former students at the college had done in support of his hospital at Lambarene.

"Political negotiations about abolition of atomic weapons have been carried on for years," the letter said. "They remain without result because these nations cannot have the absolute confidence in each other."

"Only if a spirit of deepest humility awakens in people, an atmosphere will be created in which the abolition of atomic weapons can take place. The mutual confidence, indispensable for this goal, will find its guarantee in this humane spirit," he said.

DANNY IS QUITTING WEEKLY TELEVISION

Hollywood (AP)—Danny Thomas will be the last season of his Monday night show. The 49-year-old comedian confirmed recurring rumors that his 11th year with a network show would be his last. He made the announcement in the same week that an audience survey listed him among the top 10 shows, a position he has held for several years.

Thomas declared: "I know I've said I plan to retire for the past several seasons. But this time I mean it. I think it's time to pick up the chips and walk."

But he emphasized that the demise of his own show will not mean the end of his television career. He added: "There are several other phases of this wonderful business I want to go into before I get much older. My plans include six hour-long specials for the 1964-65 season. These will be highly diversified, covering variety, serious drama, comedy drama and musical comedy."

He added that he will now be able to accept motion picture roles. He will also devote more time to the shows being produced by the firm headed by himself and Sheldon Leonard. One of television's most successful operations, it is responsible for the Andy Griffith, Dick Van Dyke, Joey Bishop and Bill Dana shows.

The firm also owns an interest in "The Real McCoys," "My Favorite Martian" and a future show starring Walter Brennan, "Tycoon."

"Most difficult thing about quitting the show is that it means the breakup of my TV family," Thomas said. "I hold them in affection second only to my real-life family."

"But it's time to quit. And I can't think of a better time than when we're still on top."

As "Make Room For Daddy," the Thomas show appeared for four years on ABC, then switched to CBS as "The Danny Thomas Show." It has won five Emmys and numerous other awards.

Jill St. John Receives Divorce

... ON HER DOCTOR'S ORDERS, SHE SAYS

Los Angeles (UPI) — Actress Jill St. John Wednesday divorced wealthy Lance Reventlow — on her doctor's advice, she said — and received an $86,000 settlement.

Superior Judge Laurence J. Rittenband granted the decree after the 23-year-old red-haired beauty testified the help to the Woolworth dime store fortune put her in such "an agitated state" she had to seek medical help.

"What was your doctor's advice?" her attorney Arthur Groman, asked.

"Get a divorce," she replied.

In the three-minute uncontested proceedings, Miss St. John also said her 27-year-old husband "embarrassed and humiliated me in front of others by calling me incompetent and stupid."

She said that Reventlow, whose hobby is driving racing cars, "bullied" her into participating in dangerous sports and thereby caused additional nervousness.

A friend, Celeste Shane, 23, was Miss St. John's corroborating witness. She testified that Reventlow, whose mother is socialite Barbara Hutton, "consistently badgered and ridiculed" her in front of others.

"There was not a kind word said to her 65% of the time," Miss Shane testified, adding that Miss St. John would sometimes leave the room in tears after Reventlow ridiculed her.

The couple was married in San Francisco March 24, 1960. There are no children.

Treasury Borrowing Authority Hike Okayed

Washington (AP) — The $6-billion increase in borrowing authority sought by the treasury won approval of the House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday on a strict party-line vote of 15 to 10.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., immediately suggested that House Republicans try to defeat the debt ceiling increase — from $309 billion to $315 billion — and so force the committee to come up with what he called a reasonable alternative.

"We would be glad to cooperate in such an effort," Byrnes said. He is senior Republican member of the committee and chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee.

Next Week

House leaders planned a vote next week. Unless both House and Senate finish action by Nov. 30, the limit drops automatically to $285 billion — some $20 billion below the expected actual debt.

The last debt ceiling increase, voted last spring, passed the House by a margin of only nine votes, with some fiscally conservative Democrats voting against it.

Debt ceiling debates — there have been two already this year in the House — always center on the issue of government spending. This year Republicans have hit the issue especially hard, charging the Kennedy administration with extravagance in the face of prospective tax cut.

Unusual Language

The Ways and Means Committee majority, seeking to blunt opposition arguments, couched the ceiling-raising bill in unusual language. It would extend through next June 30 the present $309 billion ceiling.

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains, 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation, 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

ing but provide an extra $6 billion through June 29 to take care of contingencies. By then, the whole issue will have to be reconsidered again.

Committee sources said this phrasing would make it earlier to argue "that the basic $309-billion ceiling is adequate for the average level of debt. But the debt varies sharply up and down for short periods because peaks of government receipts and expenditures come at different times. So, they said, the extra $6 billion is necessary.

Oct. 30 Report: Comet Durability Run

Comet completes 100,000-mile durability run averaging over 105 miles per hour!

Day and night this team of '64 Comets, specially equipped and prepared for high-speed driving, roared around Daytona International Speedway. Driving under official NASCAR supervision, these Comets broke over 100 world records, many once held by famous foreign cars. The average speed of the lead Comet was over 105 mph. And that included all time required to pit, change tires, refuel, change driver, change race number, and maintainance. At the end of the 100,000 mile run these Comets were still going strong — was quite a challenge to standing up to the wear and tear. But then these are quite different cars to face.

The same engineering excellence that made this performance at Daytona possible is yours in every '64 Comet. Come see it. Newly styled, newly engineered, newly designed, yet still compact priced.

Red Wing, Minn., Kicks Church Out Of Schools

Red Wing, Minn. (AP) — The Red Wing School Board has voted to take religion out of the public schools by doing away with baccalaureates and changing the character of Christmas and Easter convocations.

The board announced a policy decision, passed by a 5-1 vote.

The dissenting member, Wayne Loomis, accused the others of taking a "public-be-darned" attitude. He added that Red Wing has in no way violated the letter or intent of U.S. Supreme Court decisions, and therefore the policy statement was not necessary.

The board explained its action with this introduction: "Recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court have made it clear that it is not the province of a public school to support or discourage religious beliefs or practices."

Schools will not sponsor the traditional baccalaureate services for graduating classes. Easter and Christmas programs won't be called by those names, and music will be chosen on its merits, rather than for any religious connection.

The board also said there will be no dramatization of Bible stories, and free Bibles may not be distributed in the schools by the Gideon Society.

Loomis told the other board members he thought the majority of the people were opposed to the new policy.

Korth Calls For N-Power On More Ships

Washington (UPI)—Retiring Navy Secretary Fred Korth appealed to Congress Wednesday to provide nuclear power for all major combat ships. He said the temporary additional cost would be more than offset by military advantages.

Korth, who leaves his Navy post Friday, said in his final congressional appearance that there is no question as to whether nuclear power is better than conventional power. He said it is only a question of "convincing others" that the cost is justified.

Korth announced his resignation the day after Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara notified the Navy that a Navy carrier authorized by Congress in 1962 would be equipped with conventional rather than nuclear power. This decision was made public last Friday.

Too Few New
Korth, who led the unsuccessful fight for nuclear power in the flatfoot, told the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee that the United States must not keep "hamstringing our new ships, already too few in number, with obsolete engines."

He said nuclear costs are dropping and the day is in sight when atomic fuel stored in a vessel at its launching will last the 30-year lifetime of the ship.

"We must look far beyond the budget of the '60's," he told the committee. "We must look to the '80's and the 21st Century."

Catholics and Birth Control

There's a sharp division on this subject within the Church. A woman physician, Catholic mother of 5, has asked the Vatican why it is moral to practice the rhythm method but sinful to use contraceptives. "The intention is the same," she writes, "God will not be deceived."

What is Catholicism's official position? Read the bold re-examination of this question, condensed from the N. Y. Times, in November Reader's Digest—now on sale!

Westerners Say Soviets Reducing Business Orders Sharply

Moscow (AP)—Western businessmen in Moscow report a sharp reduction in Soviet orders for commercial products and industrial machinery.

There is always a lull in the weeks before the annual Soviet budget comes out in late November or December, for the budget gives purchasing agencies a line on how much they can spend. But the lull is more marked than usual this year.

Some representatives here have been told frankly that there is a shortage of funds due to the need to spend nearly $1 billion for foreign wheat to make up for the poor Russian harvest.

"The hold-down is about 50% due to the budget and about half due to the need to buy wheat," a Western diplomat said Wednesday.

One exception is machinery to make chemical fertilizers. A demand persists for that, though there is pressure for long-term credit. Increased use of fertilizers is one point in Premier Khrushchev's program to boost agricultural production.

British, Italian, Japanese and West German firms are among those feeling the pressure. All are chary of mentioning figures.

Soviet purchases outside the Communist Bloc normally run about $1 billion to $1.2 billion a year.

The United States shares in only a few score million dollars of this trade.

Italian suppliers have been told that much of their dealings must be switched over to fertilizer equipment. Orders for textiles, shoes and various chemicals were reported canceled.

"Come Again" "They have told us to come around at the end of 1964 or the beginning of 1965," one business representative said. Just how much spending money the Soviet Union has is always a mystery, carefully guarded. Gold production reportedly runs from $250 million to $300 million a year. That amount of gold has been sold annually on the European markets for several years to make up the chronic deficit between what Russia sold in the West and what it bought.

Some diplomats were taken recently on a tour of the Far Eastern Siberian gold mines. They said production is being stepped up. The mining is difficult and expensive since many of the deposits are in areas where the ground is permanently frozen. Costs of mining gold in some places are estimated at about twice the world price of gold, but of course such costs are paid for in rubles, not in foreign exchange.

Senators OK Appointments, Advance Bill

The Legislature acted on one bill and approved three appointments to the Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission during a brief session Wednesday morning.

Advanced from general file following a minor amendment was LB3, a bill by Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln which would permit the Game Commission to transfer an option to buy property in downtown Lincoln to the University of Nebraska.

During the 35-minute session, the Legislature also approved the appointment of Robert O'Keefe of Omaha, Merle Kingsbury of Ponca and C. E. Metzger of Louisville to the Highway Commission.

Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, chairman of the Committee on Committees, announced that group would meet again Monday to make recommendations to the governor's appointments to the State Employees Retirement Board and the Education Television Commission.

The Legislature also received a report that the governor has signed two bills appropriating money for the expenses of the special session before adjourning until Thursday morning.

Central States School Boards Meeting Slated

The central area of the National Association of State Boards of Education will convene at the Nebraska Center for continuing education in Lincoln on Nov. 1 and 2.

The conference will be attended by representatives from Colorado, South Dakota, Kansas, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska. Hamilton F. Mitten, Nebraska state board member, said Wednesday.

The conference topics include:

—How shall we pay for the kind of education that we need.

—How shall our school districts be organized.

—What is the place of adult education in the school program.

—How state board members can best discharge their responsibilities for public education.

Edward L. Jennings of Tennessee, president of the national association, and national secretary Bernice Frieder of Colorado will attend the workshop type meeting.

Credit Sale Expenditure Law Asked

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press

A law which would permit merchants and dealers to recover the actual expenses they incur in doing credit business was recommended by Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday as a long-range solution to current time sales and installment selling problems.

Such a provision could be written into the uniform sales act, he suggested.

He termed it "a long range objective to be pursued."

Morrison noted that recent State Supreme Court decisions have knocked out the old time sales concept under which a merchant could offer merchandise at one price for cash and at another price for deferred payment, with the difference not being considered usury. Such charges now are considered interest and subject to usury laws.

The state must beware of stores and merchants getting into the banking business, the governor said.

Merchants should not be collecting interest or loaning money, he said.

Should Be Reimbursed

On the other hand, merchants should be reimbursed for salaries, postage, book-keeping and other costs incurred in credit selling.

"Basically this is a problem of merchandising," he declared. "It should be distinguished from a money lending operation. We have no alternative in view of the record to date but to subject them (merchants) to usury regulations to which the money lender is subjected."

Gov. Morrison complimented senators who have introduced bills dealing with the credit and usury problem. Each bill "has contributed something," he said.

"For me, the most important thing is for this Legislature to enact a constitutional usury statute that is definite and certain and on which the borrower and the lender can both depend as the law of the state of Nebraska."

Three Questions

Both the Legislature and the governor should keep three questions in mind, he said:

1. Is the law constitutional?
2. Does the law protect the borrowing public against unjust exploitation?

3. Is the law such that it will facilitate the flow of investment capital into productive enterprise so that we can expand the economy, increase employment opportunities and retain an atmosphere of business, commercial and industrial progress?

Morrison said he thinks the money industry "generally has been trying to be helpful to the Legislature."

Mrs. Goodfellow Dies Following Liver Transplant

Ashland—Funeral services for Mrs. Larry Goodfellow, 29, of Arvada, Colo., were held in Denver Wednesday.

Slant Well Drillers Penalized $304,800

Austin, Tex. (AP)—A jury assessed a $304,800 penalty Wednesday against a group of East Texas oilmen for drilling and operating a slanted oil well.

The jury found that a Wood County well operated by H. M. Harrington Jr., Charles Lutes, Reid Allgood, Douglas Godfrey and J. W. Baton was bottomed under a neighbor's lease.

The case was the first jury trial of the many penalty suits filed by the Texas attorney general in the wake of last year's directional drilling investigation.

The state asked for more than $25 million in penalties in the many suits, including $3.6 million in this case.

The seven-woman, five-man jury heard four days of testimony last week by the state.

Tuesday, Asst. Atty. Gen. Cecil Rotsch asked the jury to "assess a penalty so severe they will know it is not profitable to do this."

The jury excluded Godfrey from payment of any penalties, and excluded Baton from payment of any part of the $12,800 assessed for the 16 days during the drilling of the well.

DAZZLING WINDUP USED BY SURREALIST PAINTER

London (AP)—Surrealist painter Man Ray explained Wednesday how he completed a portrait—by sitting on it.

"After I finished the picture," he said, "I placed a board across it. While the paint is still wet, I then sat on the board and the picture."

"I only exerted pressure for a second, but the result was instantaneous."

Ray is 5 feet, 3 inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

"Not very heavy," he said, "but enough to exert the necessary pressure."

Ray presently has a one-man exhibition in a London art gallery.

"I call my exhibition 'This means the law of nature plays a part. Things happen to my paintings, accidents, you know.'"

Ray's done several portraits of his wife—most all of them with those extra natural touches. While one was still wet, he slugged it with a crowbar. That effect was also instantaneous.

A third portrait he touched up with an old fashioned rolling pin.

Ray's technique is not unprofitable.

Mrs. Fiona Lonsdale, wife of a wealthy British collector, has offered the artist 650 pounds ($1,820) for the portrait he sat on.

Dress Rehearsal For Night Of 'Tricks Or Treats'

This is the dawn of Halloween. The dawn is not eventful, but at sundown the goblins and the gremlins will be on the prowl. In various homes dress rehearsal for the 'tricks-or-treats' spectacular have been in progress.

We were on hand for some of the rehearsals—and just to give you an idea of what you may expect when your doorbell rings this evening, we are presenting a sample.

Tri-Delta Plans For Anniversary

Delta Delta Delta sorority is making plans for the 75th anniversary of its founding.

The anniversary date is Saturday, Nov. 16, and the celebration will begin with a tea at the chapter house on Saturday afternoon.

On Saturday evening the active chapter of the sorority will join the alumnae for dinner at the Lincoln Country Club.

Attendants Announced

Announcing plans for her approaching wedding is Miss Patricia Kay Clinch, whose betrothal to Terry L. Jones was revealed recently.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 10 o'clock in the morning on Saturday, Nov. 30, at Blessed Sacrament Church.

For her matron of honor, Miss Clinch has chosen her sister, Mrs. Jerry Gertschitz of Denver, and her bridesmaid will be Mrs. John E. Clinch. Miss Gloria Clinch will attend her sister as bridesmaid.

Tom Jones of Minneapolis will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Dr. John McElroy of Grand Island, and Bob Finley.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Clinch, will be honored on Monday evening when Miss Carole Butler and Miss Kathy Bourke will be co-hostesses at the home of Miss Butler. Former classmates of the honoree have been invited for an informal evening and miscellaneous shower.

we find two small members of the feminine sex comparing costume notes with two stalwart young men. Pictured, from left to right, are Sue Franklin, five years old and daughter of Col. and Mr. Louie Franklin; Susie Irwin, who is four and a half years of age, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eames Irwin — and Susie's two brothers, nine year-old Jon—seated on the floor, and Bill, who is six.

Taking a good look at the over-all effect of their costumes and masks are four

Guests From Everywhere In Suburbia

PARK MANOR
With all the guests coming and going around Park Manor this week, and judging from the many sections of the country represented by the visitors, it seems appropriate to bring up the subject of road maps.

Road maps are easily the most frustrating item connected with traveling. People with small sports cars simply can not unfold a map of Texas while in the car and expect to succeed, and trying to fold it back to the original form is unthinkable.

While struggling with a map is one thing, trying to decipher it is another. How many times have people ended the driving day miles from their destination because they were sure that the red dotted line connected by the blue solid line, joined by the yellow arrows indicated major highway, and not a river?

There is the problem of spilling things on the map, blotting out just that portion needed for directions. Major cities have been wiped out by an ice cream cone dropped by one of the children, and many small towns have been flooded off the face of the landscape by a spilled bottle of pop.

It's truly amazing that anyone gets where they're going, but we have plenty of proof that they do.

But back to our guests, visitors, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kurtz and their children, Nancy, Patty and John on Monday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lauch of Colorado.

Mrs. Lauch will be remembered as the former Vivian Rouse of Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Lauch who were the houseguests of Miss Goldie Kurtz during their stay in town leave today to begin their trip home.

Another former Lincoln resident who was visiting in Park Manor earlier this week was Mrs. Bill Launghouser, who now resides in Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Launghouser arrived on Monday and was the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Leo L. Luken until Tuesday morning.

And with the sudden turn of the weather there seems to be nothing nicer than an evening spent sipping coffee and playing bridge.

A bridge hostess this evening will be Mrs. Charles Mulvaney, who will entertain two tables of card playing enthusiasts.

Her guests for the evening of cards, accompanied by dessert, will be Mrs. Robert Hunn, Mrs. William Prauss, Mrs. Peter Nichols, Mrs. Mel Nuzum, Mrs. Tony Kuzelka, Mrs. Robert Davidson, and Mrs. Herbert Henry.

Miss Pamela Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carlson, is celebrating her birthday today at a combination Blue Bird-Halloween-Birthday party at her home. Pamela, who is eight years old today, has members of her Blue Birds group as guests.

Helping Pamela celebrate her Halloween birthday are Cynthia Jones, Sharon Callaway, Cathy Kreiner, Paula Thompson, Sheryl Gardner, Joyce Tanderup, and Peggy Peterson.

And speaking of Halloween parties, there was one last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Grady. The hostess was Christy Grady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady, and Debbie Stranathan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stranathan.

The guest list, all classmates at May Morley School, included Vickie Hoy, Becky Nuzum, Denise Elliott, Diane Folos, Wendy Voss, Sue Tanderup, Jeanne Hasling, Mary Lohse, Julie Kushner, Julie Moreland, Barb Weller, and Sue Remigio.

SOUTH BROOK SUMMIT

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene C. Williams this week were friends, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cohoon of Omaha.

Pheasant hunting is a magic word in South Brook Summit, especially at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Don Primas. Capt. Primas is currently in Spain, but the household does not lack for company.

Visiting Mrs. Primas are her father, R. R. Moore, and her brother, Leroy Moore. Both men have several friends along with which to hunt pheasants around the Lincoln area.

Mrs. Primas' father is from Bull Shoals, Ark., and his friends accompanying him include Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones and Riley Bailey. Leroy Moore is from Wood River, Ill., and his hunting companions are George Sterns, Joe Albrieht, Wayne Bridgewater, Richard Spicer, and Mitch Miller.

The guests plan to return home on Friday.

We found this group in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart, III. Since the whole idea was to see who looked like what, no one cared to remove the mask.

But we know that from left to right are Kylee Stuart, not quite four years old—Bobby Howey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howey, who has six months to go before his third birthday—Teresa O'Hearn, who is three years old, and Teresa's sister, Erin O'Hearn, who is four years old, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hearn.

Take Middleground In Bidding Better Think Twice

B. Jay Becker

Both styles of play can be expensive, for while such players may scrupulously live up to their reputation, the cost of doing it is prohibitive and is bound to show up as a losing policy over the long run.

Our South in the accompanying hand came from this school. While it is true that his two notrump bid might have led to a successful game contract if North had had a better hand, still South's cards did not justify the optimistic view he took.

South could have passed two clubs or raised the suit to three—and either action would have been moderately acceptable—but the highly aggressive bid of two notrump constituted a gross exaggeration of his values. He needed 2 or 3 points more for this bid.

South was punished far more than he deserved for his optimism, but that is what

Why Grow Old?
Another Day Of Diet
Josephine Lowman

This is the third day of my Tack AND Treat Diet. For a couple of days now I have been telling you about some of the tricks you can use to make food delicious even when dieting. I used to make this sort seven-day diet a happy experience for you.

I have already mentioned powdered fat-free milk, whipped cream made from fat-free dry milk. I have mentioned the use of lemon juice and tarragon vinegar. Today, I want to give you a few more suggestions.

If you insist on a cream sauce once in a while it will not be very high in calorie count if you use only a little butter or margarine and skim or fat-free powdered milk when making it.

I have not yet mentioned herbs. These are wonderful for pepping up the flavor of all kinds of foods and have practically no calorie count. A baked potato seasoned with salt and parsley is delicious. This is just one example.

I have not mentioned the artificial sweeteners which can be used successfully in many dishes. Onion and garlic salt adds flavor to food. A very light sprinkling of cheese over vegetables or meat or salad adds to the flavor and is light in calorie count.

Here are the menus for Thursday:

BREAKFAST
Six ounces tomato juice
Two baked or hard poached eggs, with the poacher

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged (ring and all) to a girl for whom I care so much it hurts. We have fought bitterly about one matter, but I finally gave in because it meant so much to her. She was engaged before, but returned the diamond. However, she did not return a gold charm bracelet he gave her. It is loaded down with charms from HIM. Each has sentimental significance—the anniversary of their first date, his gold football, even a small calendar with a tiny ruby marking their "wedding date." She wears this bracelet constantly and claims it means nothing to her. She says she tried to give it back to HIM, but he refused it. Am I wrong to resent it?

CROWDED

DEAR CROWDED: With a car in her driveway, and lacking the manners to ASK if her children may ride with you, this woman should be asked not to send her children over for a ride because the car is filled to capacity without them.

CAREFUL

DEAR CAREFUL: In the first place, a "careful" girl wouldn't go out with a man about whom she knew so little. But if she finds herself in that situation, she should come right out and ask if he is married. Tact has nothing to do with it.

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: No. She is either cold and unfeeling, or very cruel. Take a long, hard look at this woman. In my opinion she has too much jewelry at the moment to appreciate a wedding ring.

DEAR ABBY: Three other mothers and I are in a car pool. My problem is not with them. It's with a mother who is not in our car pool. This

Carolinian Is Charged As Slaver

Columbia, S.C. (UPI)—The owner of a large farm was indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday in what one official termed "the first case of slavery in the South in at least 40 years."

The farmer, Robert Moultrie Cook, 48, was accused of violating laws prohibiting involuntary servitude and peonage by forcing a Negro laborer to work against his will.

Cook's farm is located near Johnsonville in the extreme southeastern tip of Florence County.

U.S.-Coordinated

The investigation was coordinated by Klyde Robinson, an assistant U.S. district attorney in Charleston. He said as nearly as he knew, it was the first such case in the South in 40 years.

The only other similar case in memory, he said, was in Connecticut last year. He said the defendant there was convicted.

The grand jury was told that Cook held Max Roy McKenzie, Negro father of four, in "involuntary servitude and peonage" to work off alleged debts owed Cook. Officers said that when McKenzie tried to leave the farm, Cook arranged his arrest in Lake City May 7 on charges of writing a bad check.

U.S. District Atty. Terrell L. Glenn said Cook beat McKenzie over the head with a pistol and used "other force" to "make him work in the fields."

Forced to Work

Three days after his arrest, explained Robinson, Cook paid the Negro's bail and "continued to threaten him and force him to work." Robinson said Cook swore he would send McKenzie back to jail if Cook's orders were disobeyed.

The investigation began when the Negro went to the Florence office of the FBI. The U.S. attorney's office and the FBI had to get authorization from the Department of Justice to press the charges before the grand jury, Robinson said.

McKenzie reportedly was paid $3 a day for an average of five days a week. Robinson said half of the pay went to Cook to "pay off some sort of alleged debt."

Selection Of Murder Jury Goes Faster

Minneapolis (AP)—Selection of the T. Eugene Thompson murder trial jury moved at a somewhat faster and more relaxed pace Wednesday with occasional courtroom laughter counterbalancing Tuesday's tension.

Three jurors were seated, bringing to eight the number chosen.

Thompson, 35, a St. Paul attorney, is charged with first degree murder in the bludgeon and knife slaying of his wife, Carol, 34, who was insured for more than $1 million.

Smiles were numerous as Kenneth M. Sterling, Minneapolis was examined for jury duty. The post office worker, who was later seated, said he was an expectant father and added his wife anticipates the baby in early December, although the doctor claimed it would arrive a month later.

Laughter rippled through the courtroom as Judge Rolf Fossen asked "what do you think?" and Sterling answered that he was hoping for another income tax deduction this year. Sterling said the impending birth would not affect his performance on the jury.

Thompson joined in the laughter.

U.N. Mission Fails In Yemen Civil War

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant reported Wednesday failure of U.N. efforts to end outside intervention in Yemen's civil war. He ordered withdrawal of the 200-man U.N. military observer mission by next Monday.

Thant informed the U.N. Security Council that he intends to maintain a U.N. civilian presence in Yemen with the hope that it might help achieve an early settlement.

He said the Yemen problem "is primarily political and will require a political solution."

Authorized
The council authorized dispatch of U.N. military observers to the restive Arab country in an effort to end intervention by both the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia. They arrived last July 4.

Approximately 22,000 U.A.R. troops are reported in Yemen supporting the republican regime which ousted the royalists in a revolt in September, 1962. The Saudi Arabians have been contributing to royalist forces seeking to regain power.

Largely as a result of efforts by Ellsworth Bunker U.S. diplomatic troubleshooter, Saudi Arabia and the U.A.R. agreed to disengage their forces under U.N. supervision. They agreed also to pay for the costs of the U.N. mission, set up originally for two months and then renewed for another two months.

Total cost thus far has been $400,000 each.

Refuses

But Thant said Wednesday that Saudi Arabia had refused to pay any more money as long as there was no evidence that the U.A.R. would effect a military withdrawal within a fixed time.

"In the light of this latter circumstance," he added, "it has been necessary for me to take the essential preparatory steps to complete withdrawal of UNYOM (U.N. Yemen Observer Mission) by Nov. 4, beyond which date there will be no financial support for it."

Thant declared that he had made clear to all parties his dissatisfaction which the mandate given UNYOM which "is so limiting and restrictive as to make it virtually impossible for UNYOM to play a really helpful and constructive role in Yemen."

Cost Of Living Stays At Same High Level

Washington (UPI) — The cost of living stayed at the same level in September for the second consecutive month, thanks to a dip in the price of groceries and transportation.

The Labor Department, reporting this Wednesday, fore-

3 Military Advisers Captured

... IN VIET NAM

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — Three U.S. military advisers are believed to have been captured by Communist guerrillas who whipped a South Vietnamese company 140 miles southwest of Saigon Tuesday.

Two American officers and an enlisted medic disappeared in the skirmish, fought in a marshy area of rice paddies, canals and palm jungle on the peninsula south of the Mekong river delta.

Vietnamese survivors said both officers were wounded early in the fight, one in the head and the other in a leg.

In Washington, the Army identified two U.S. officers and an enlisted man as missing in Viet Nam. Apparently they are the three believed captured.

They are: Capt. Humbert R. Versace, Baltimore; 1st Lt. James N. Rowe, McAllen, Tex.; and Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer, Spring Lake, N.C.

Twelve Vietnamese were also listed as missing and probably prisoners.

Task Force

The Red blow fell on a 120-man company forming the left flank of a 300-man task force probing the countryside northeast of the South Vietnamese base at Tan Phu.

Approaching a grove of trees near a canal, the company, ran into a wall of fire. Screened by parapets, the guerrillas fired mortars, machine guns and small arms. They were estimated to number 500.

U.S. military authorities said Communist jammer knocked out both the main and alternate channels on all local military radios. This blocked signals that could have brought the company support from the government artillery and from the rest of the task force, which was operating farther south.

Twenty troops were reported killed and 30 wounded.

Withdrawn

By the time runners contacted the rest of the task force, the guerrillas had withdrawn. Their losses were not determined.

"The day ended with the enemy in command of the field," a U.S. officer said. "He had plenty of time to get his own casualties out of the way, along with the prisoners from our side, before we could get back in."

A relief company of Rangers was flown in by helicopter. Ground patrols and reconnaissance planes sought to locate the Red hideout.

Maj. Gen. Richard Stilwell, operations officer for U.S. forces in Viet Nam, said everything possible was being done to recover the Americans.

St. Charles, Mo. (UPI) — Authorities blamed free and easy use of automobiles by teenagers and "poor parental supervision" Wednesday for a mounting sex scandal that has resulted in 25 arrests and reached a "crisis" stage in this historic river city.

St. Charles County Prosecutor Donald E. Dalton urged the shocked and troubled community to enact a curfew law for juveniles.

County Juvenile Officer Edwin Stein said the number of persons involved was "well, well over" the 25 now charged with statutory rape or contributing to the delinquency of minors and the 6-week-old investigation "isn't even half over."

"The scope of this thing is amazing," Stein said. "I consider this a crisis."

Stein said "poor parental supervision has brought about this situation" and called the scandal "evidence of the deterioration of our country's moral structure."

Unlimited Use

Dalton said a major contributing factor was the unlimited use of automobiles by high school boys and girls—frequently cars which were given the youngsters as 16th birthday gifts.

The prosecutor also laid blame on beer parties and criticized parents for permitting high school junior and senior girls to date older men.

Dalton called on parents to halt "a serious situation which has come about in connection with sex crimes involving the boys and girls."

"It is unfortunate that the law prohibits my giving details of cases that are under investigation," he said. "However, something of the seriousness of the situation can be gathered from the nature and number of charges filed."

Dalton said the investigation had turned up cases of forcible rape. He said there also were cases of unnatural sex acts but "I think we have caught this before it spread very far."

In other cases, statutory rape charges were filed because of the age of the girls concerned and regardless of whether they gave consent to intimacies.

Three of the 25 persons arrested remained in custody Wednesday.

William H. Osborne Jr., 19, and Jerry Newman, 24, who were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, were to appear for parole proceedings.

Donna Lee Czarniecki, 17-year-old high school dropout sentenced to six months and fined $150 on the same charge, was transferred to the state mental hospital at Fulton for observation this week.

More than a dozen have been sentenced and paroled.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is conducting a survey of public opinion on the need for wholesome activities for the 1,365 high school students in this city of 21,000—former state capital on the banks of the Missouri River 20 miles north of St. Louis.

"Nobody likes to see this thing in our community," Stein said. "Some would like to see it swept under the rug but I think everyone would like to see the situation eliminated."

"It will take a great deal of sacrifice and I wonder if the community is ready for that much of a sacrifice."

I think the pumpkin head looks good this year — if I do say so myself. I never know when I start carving how they will come out. Sometimes happy; sometimes scary; sometimes a little wistful.
You should eat the pumpkin seeds and dry them. Then you put them in a pan in the oven and roast them. Then you fry them lightly in butter and salt them. Let them cool and get crisp before you eat them.

"Anything we can do for you?"
I simply said: "Just looking for the children, thanks."
She gave me a knowing little smile. I have an idea other people come in and try on the masks.
I have a fancy Neanderthal man mask—man. I look horrible in that mask. But seldom wear it.
The costumes of my youth were pretty simple.
You drew on a burnt cork moustache. Made an eye mask by cutting a couple of holes in a black piece of cloth—it was held on by a rubber band.
You wore one of your mother's old sheets.

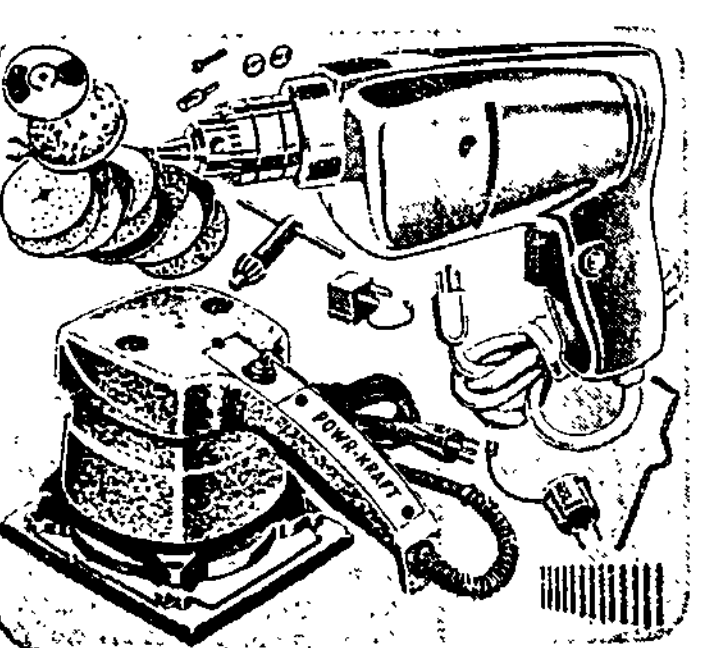

I should add that this is hot buttered rum weather. ("There's nought, no doubt, the spirit calms as rum and true religion.")
A light aromatic Jamaica rum. Fill the rest of the glass with hot cider. Drop in a clove and a pecan-size lump of butter. Sprinkle it with cinnamon.
OK? Start carving.
I come from a long line of Illinois pumpkin carvers. The trade has been handed down through the years.
The only difference I can see today is that pumpkins no longer come off the vine. They come out of supermarkets. And a certain authenticity has been lost since we were permitted to saw them directly off the vine with a dull jack knife.

With this equipment (which baffled the police as much as the Brink's robbery), you could enter the goblin-and-ghost business with assurance.
We had spoons cut with ratchet edges. You put this on a window, pulled the string. The ratchet revolved going clack-clack-clack on the pane and scared the householder out of his wits.
By the time they had tucked their shirts in their pants and were at the front door, we were a mile away. Disguised and a wary eye for the police patrols.

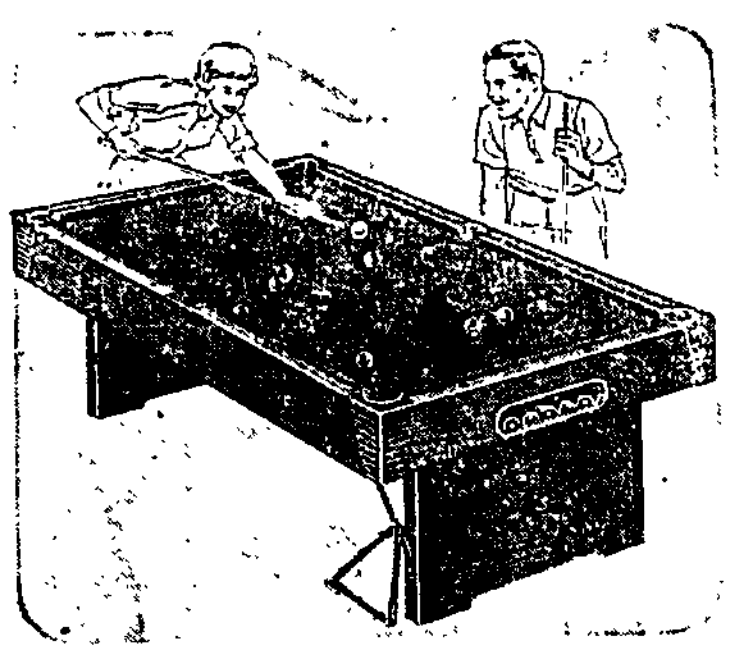

If we had had Neanderthal man masks in those daring days, we would have scared them half to death. (In the new, tension world, every day is Halloween.)
Pumpkin carving, of course, is another thing. Not to be changed. It is an Art. Art being long and life, unfortunately, brief.

Fund Drive Could Hit Goal By Friday

Lincoln's United Appeal is within 10% of its goal. Harry Seward, campaign chairman, said, "We are hoping to reach our goal by the end of the week."

He added that "this means that all solicitors must make the remainder of their contacts and get their reports in immediately if we are going to wrap up the campaign by Friday."

He said that if the goal is not reached by Friday, "we are prepared to hold report meetings next week if necessary."

Total Hits $675,749

Wednesday's meeting produced $46,455 toward the $747,924 goal, bringing the overall total to $675,749.

Leading the three main divisions is Mrs. Don Weller's women's division, which has 96% of its $13,924 goal, a total of $13,403.

Eleven more women's division colonies have received "Oscars" for reaching or exceeding their goals. They are: Mrs. Thomas E. Altman, Mrs. Emil Beranek, Mrs. Gene Christiansen, Mrs. Phillip Cole, Mrs. Lloyd Corp, Mrs. John Dean, Mrs. Rodney Jernberg, Miss Lola Litton, Mrs. Ansel Reed, Mrs. William Schultz and Mrs. Glenn Yaus-Si.

The advance gifts division, under Gene Tallman, reported its largest single gift, $16,000 from the Woods Charitable Fund, to bring that division to within nine percent of its $171,000 goal.

Representing public school children at Wednesday's luncheon was Bill Moses, president of the student council at Pound Junior High, who reported $1,827 from students of the Lincoln public schools.

Combined corporation-executive-employee gifts were reported for six more firms in the unit firms division, headed by Howard Chapin. Reporting a 16.5% increase over last year was Sanitary Towel and Laundry with $964. Other unit firms reported were: Capital Mutual Insurance Co., $771; Havelock National Bank, $508; KOLN-TV, $2,093.16; Weaver Potato Chip Co., $839; Wickstrom Supply Co., $343.

The additional reports brought the unit firms division to $358,240 or 91% of its $393,000 goal.

The business and government division, led by Charles Sayre, reported additional cash or pledges totaling $147,871 to bring that division to 87% of its $170,000 goal.

Colonels Named

"Colonels" who have received "Oscars" thus far in the business and government division are: Kenneth Bourne, Jim Bowman, Keith Brown, Howard Christiansen, Lt. Col. Gene Cushman, Dr. Chester Gausman and Bob Taylor.

Thirty more firms in the business and government division have reached or exceeded their goals, making a total of 293 such firms to date.

No report meeting is scheduled for Thursday. Winners of the "Good Guy Jr.," "Littlest Angel," and "Volunteer Extraordinaire" contests are to be named at Friday's luncheon.

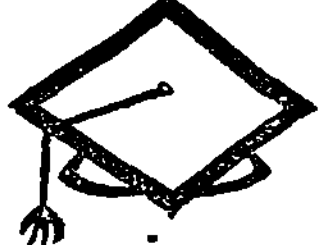

NU Evening Class Registration Top Since 1956 Term

Registrations for evening classes at the University of Nebraska are the highest since 1956 and equal all-time records set after World War II.

Edor Ellingson, supervisor of evening classes, said fall registrations now total 2,245 compared to 1,708 a year ago.

The registrations include 1,142 adults (those who are not carrying 12 or more hours) and 1,103 campus students carrying 12 or more hours.

"The increase in adult registrations apparently is due to more interest in continuing education," Ellingson said.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:
The hardest substance in the human body is the enamel on teeth.
There are almost 250,000,000 radies in use throughout the world outside the United States and Canada. A U. S. Information Agency survey shows. This is 15% over the total at the start of 1962.
The first Roman Catholic parish Mass in what is now the United States was said September 3, 1592, on the northern outskirts of St. Augustine.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to open out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 9 or more, subtract 9. If the number is less than 9, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then trace the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Huskers Hold Rushing Lead

New York — Nebraska retained its rushing offense lead for the second straight week, according to figures released Wednesday by the NCAA Service Bureau.

The Huskers have rushed for 1,724 yards in six games for a 287.3 per game average. This gives them an 11.3 per game edge over runner-up Army.

The Huskers are also fourth in total offense, fourth in scoring and sixth in rushing defense.

The NU total offense chart shows 2,302 yards for a 383.7 per game average, putting them fourth with Utah State leading at 394.2 yards per game.

The Scarlet and Cream gridders are scoring at a 29.2 points per game clip. Utah State also leads this department with a 37.5 average.

The NU defense has held foes to an average of 81.5 yards per game on the ground for sixth in this department where Mississippi is the leader with a 64.6 average.

Koufax Voted MVP For NL

Boston (AP) — Los Angeles left-hander Sandy Koufax, the comeback pitcher who made the difference—was named the National League's Most Valuable Player for 1963 Wednesday.

The 27-year-old strikeout king decisively beat Dick Groat, the St. Louis Cardinals' sparkplug, 237 points to 190. Results of the annual poll of a 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America were announced by BBWAA secretary Ily Hurwitz. Koufax was named on all but one ballot.

Koufax, recovered from a serious circulatory ailment in a finger on his left hand which sidelined him in July 1962, pitched the Dodgers to the pennant they couldn't quite pull off without him the latter half of '62.

The Brooklyn-born bachelor registered a National League record, 306 strikeouts en route to a 25-5 mark and a brilliant 1.88 earned run average. He pitched his second major league no-hitter early in the season against San Francisco and personally accounted for two victories in the four-game World Series sweep of the New York Yankees.

Previously chosen the Cy Young Award winner as the year's finest pitcher, Koufax completed his double by capturing 14 first place votes. Shortstop Groat was named first by four voters while Milwaukee outfielder Hank Aaron and Los Angeles infielder Jim Gilliam split the other two.

Groat was 1960 MVP for the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates and Aaron, third with 133 points to 130 for Dodger relief ace Ron Perranoski, was honored in 1957. Groat and Aaron were the only players listed on all 20 ballots. Willie Mays of San Francisco was fifth.

SCARLET SALUTE: Kramer Counted On To Repel Mizzou Sweeps

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Larry Kramer is the only member of Nebraska's "Big Four" tackle corps who will be back next year, but the husky from Austin, Minn., would just as soon help his three partners wind up with a happy senior year.

A win at Missouri Saturday would go a long way toward making it a happy season and Kramer says, "We are really looking forward to that game."

Much of the defensive burden will fall on Kramer, the Huskers starting left tackle, in Saturday's fray at Columbia, Mo.

"Aggressive"

"Defensively, we have been very pleased with his aggressiveness," says defensive line coach George Kelly. "Although he has not made a lot of tackles himself, Larry's aggressive play has resulted in many defensive stops by others.

"He also has reacted well on outside plays," Kelly continued. This may well be Kramer's strong suit Saturday as the Huskers try to stop the noted Missouri sweeps.

"We certainly hope Larry will be able to help us against their outside sweeps," Kelly stressed.

Two Problems

Missouri will present two distinct problems for Husker defensive linemen. The Tigers use double-team blocking and also have a pass-run threat in quarterback Gary Lane.

"Double-team blocking like Missouri uses makes playing defense a little tougher," Kramer explains. "First of all you have to defeat the man in front of you, then react to the blocker coming at you from the outside."

Kramer also notes that Lane presents a problem to charging linemen.

"With a back who can run and throw, you have to try to contain him," he points out. "In addition to trying to make the tackle, you have to guard against him getting away from you and getting outside."

"If you can contain him, it helps your teammates by giving them time to get at him," the Husker junior notes.

As to the difference in defending against a pass or a run, Kramer explains it is mostly a matter of reaction.

"As soon as you see the offensive linemen get set to block for a pass, you know that you have to get through them," says Kramer.

—20 ON INJURY ROSTER— Battered Eagles Maintain Crew Of Walking Wounded

Philadelphia (AP) — You probably have heard the old expression, "it's enough to make a strong man cry."

Nick Skorich, coach of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles, believes it.

Tough Years

A rugged guard at the University of Cincinnati, standout performer in the NFL, and for the past decade an assistant and head coach in the pro league, Skorich has faced adversity the past two seasons that borders on the ridiculous.

He's not kidding when he says he has a better team on the injured list than the one on the field. Skorich thought last year was bad when nine men suffered broken bones, missing from two to all 14 games.

"It was just one of those years," he said. "It couldn't happen again."

It couldn't?

Frank Fuller, dt, broken leg, out for season.

Mike Woulfe, lb, knee injury, out for season.

Jim Skaggs, g, knee injury, may be out for last four games.

Jerry Mazzanti, de, knee injury, out for season.

Howard Keys, c-gt, neck injury, out for season.

Riley Gunnels, dt, shoulder separation, may make last four games.

Sonny Jurgensen, qb, shoulder fracture, out four weeks.

Bill Quinlan, de, neck nerves injury, missed five games-out again.

Ron Goodwin, oc, appendectomy, missed first four games.

Clarence Peaks, fb, dislocated elbow, missed first game.

Pete Case, g, knee injury, missed two games.

Ben Scott, db, bruised ribs, missed one game.

Bob Harrison, lb, strained ankle and knee, missed two games—still out.

In addition, the club has these walking wounded:

Tommy McDonald, hb, slight shoulder separation.

Maxie Baughan, lb, broken right thumb.

Jimmy Carr, db, sprained right ankle.

King Hill, qb, mild concussion.

For Example

Against Cleveland this Sunday, for example, the Eagles will open with a defensive line consisting of John Mellekas, Ray Mansfield, Bob Richards and Dick Stafford. When the club opened the season, Mellekas was a free agent, Richards and Mansfield subs, and Stafford on the taxi squad.

"I've never seen anything like it, unless it was last year," says Skorich. "I doubt if any team has lost its whole defensive line during a season because of injuries."

He still doesn't know whether Hill, first line sub for Jurgensen can play Sunday. Hill was knocked senseless in the last 11 seconds of the game against the Bears last Sunday. If he can't play, Ralph Guglielmi becomes the quarterback.

What happens if Guglielmi gets hurt?

Eyes Trainer

Skorich glanced at trainer Moose Detty, who already has been voted the most valuable Eagle of 1963.

"Oh no," said the trainer, retreating behind his whirlpool machine.

CAGE PROGRAM FOR KIDS SET

A basketball program for the younger set will be initiated in Lincoln this winter.

The Salvation Army is providing facilities for an eight-team loop to be known as the Little Fry's Basketball League.

Each squad will have 10 boys with the limitations that the youngsters must be 12 years of age and under as of Dec. 1 and stand no taller than 5-1.

The Pentzer park court at 1645 N. 27th will be tailored to the boys' stature. An 8½-foot basket, 28-inch ball and 60-foot court are among the intended modifications.

First practices are scheduled for Nov. 18 with the season debut slated for Dec. 2.

Coaches and sponsors are still needed for the teams and interested parties are asked to attend a Small Fry's meeting Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Pentzer Park gym. Information seekers may call 432-5855.

Prisoner Work Release Plan Favored By Sigler

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

State Penal Complex Warden Maurice Sigler said Wednesday he favors Nebraska adoption of a new prisoner work release program now carried out in two southern states.

The program allows selected prisoners to engage in private employment during the day, returning to state institutions at night. It has met with success in North Carolina and more recently in Maryland, Sigler said.

The eligible prisoners are different from the prototype trusty in that they do not wear prison clothing and are not supervised by prison personnel while on the job.

Pay Prevailing Wage
Employers usually pay the prevailing wage.

In Maryland, the law requires the prisoners to help support their dependents. They also pay the state $2.50 per day for room and board. What's left is paid back to the prisoner when he is released.

Sigler said he is hopeful the program can be discussed during the next regular session of the Legislature, with possible authority being granted for implementation in the Cornhusker State.

"This is a new and good approach," Sigler said in an interview. "I think it warrants a trial in Nebraska."

Limited Basis

Sigler emphasized, however, that such a program must operate on a limited basis and be handled "very carefully."

He said he has been in contact with both Maryland and North Carolina prison officials about their programs. He said he intends to discuss the program with Nebraska officials in an effort to get it considered by the Legislature.

Sigler said "situation offenders" are added by the program because it teaches the prisoners to accept and learn obligations. "It also helps a prisoner's morale and attitude by keeping his self-respect up," Sigler said.

The warden noted that Nebraska currently has a work release program which allows inmates to work outside the prison walls at state institutions in Beatrice, Norfolk and Grand Island. This program was started about two years ago.

Supervised At All Times
The difference, however, is that under the present Nebraska program prisoners are under supervision at all times and they do not receive any wages other than the prison work rate.

Because of Nebraska's present program, Sigler said, it would be relatively easy to implement the private employment work release program.

"We would have to handle this program very carefully," he said, "but I think it would prove a financial benefit to the state."

The warden said only certain convicts would be eligible, depending on the language in the law.

The Maryland law, for example, he said, excludes narcotics and sex offenders.

Only those Maryland inmates serving terms of five years or less are eligible and inmates must serve six months before being considered. Then they must volunteer and must provide the name of an employer who will hire them.

15 State Medical Care Facilities Plead For Aid

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Eloquent pleas for federal assistance to aid in the building and remodeling of 15 different medical care facilities throughout the state were presented Wednesday to the Nebraska Hospital Advisory Council.

A total of $14,752,969 in federal assistance through Hill-Burton funds has been requested for the 15 projects, but Nebraska's allocation for fiscal 1964 totals only $1,759,347.

The Council will reconvene at 9 a.m. Thursday to establish priorities and decide which of the projects will get the nod for funds this year.

Two Withdrawn

Applications originally had been received for 17 projects, but two of these—Schuyler and Plainview— withdrew their applications at the last minute.

Among the requests heard during Wednesday's full day of hearings was one from Lincoln General Hospital, which is seeking priority designation this fiscal year for its $6 million project.

Chief spokesman for the delegation of hospital, city and county officials appearing before the Council, Julian H. Hopkins, hospital board member, requested that the Lincoln project be given at least "token" recognition this year in order that construction can get under way by next July.

Ultimately Lincoln General is seeking $2 million federal aid in general hospital construction funds, and $400,000 in federal funds under the nursing home category.

221-Bed Hospital

Plans call for a 221-bed hospital, 50-bed nursing home, and 100 beds for chronic disease care. The $6 million project envisions replacement of the existing hospital facility which would be converted into a long-term care unit.

Hopkins said priority establishment this year was necessary before hospital building funds accrued from public fund drives, benefits and a one-mill city levy and other resources can be used.

He also brought to the council's attention a resolution approved this week by the Lincoln City Council which states that the City Council assures completion of the project to the satisfaction of State Health Department standards in the event federal funds are not made available.

The largest single request for federal funds came from Nebraska Methodist Hospital of Omaha, which seeks $4,000,000 in general hospital construction aid, and $1,735,040 in nursing home funds to complete its $14.3 million project.

The project includes a new 300-bed hospital, and modernization of the existing hospital into a long term care unit.

Three other Omaha projects were included in the applications:

Bishop Clarkson Memorial Hospital is asking for $1.7 million in general hospital funds, and $500,000 in the diagnostic and treatment category to add 168 hospital beds to its present facilities and modernize its treatment center.

Lutheran Hospital of Omaha is asking $1.8 million in general hospital funds to construct a 150-bed hospital to replace its existing facility, and the Douglas County Hospital is asking $100,000 in rehabilitation funds to expand and modernize its rehabilitation program.

West Nebraska General Hospital of Scottsbluff renewed its plea for $386,000 in general hospital funds to replace its existing facilities with a new 100-bed hospital and school of nursing.

Other federal fund requests include:

Burwell: 20-bed nursing home addition to community hospital, $67,500.

Cambridge: 21-bed nursing home addition to Cambridge Memorial Hospital, $107,640.

Columbus: Lutheran Hospital & Home Society, 27-bed hospital to replace existing 23-bed hospital and modernize existing facility for nursing home care, $250,840.

Crawford: 10-bed addition and modernization of Memorial Hospital, $20,000.

Cretz: 10 hospital bed and 20 nursing home bed addition to existing hospital, plus modernization, $210,189.

Genoa: Addition of 10 hospital beds and 20 nursing home beds, $184,160.

Genoa: 23-bed hospital to replace existing 15-bed facility of Genoa Community Hospital, $75,000.

Holdrege: Phelps County Memorial Hospital Association seeks $450,000 hospital to replace two existing facilities, $325,600.

McCook: St. Catherine's Hospital asking for 10-bed hospital addition, establishment of diagnostic and treatment areas, and expansion and modernization of present facility, $140,000.

Explosion Blamed On Pesky Plug

Council Bluffs (AP)—Roy Caputo, work manager of the Griffin Pipe Products Company, said Monday's explosion occurred when employees were unable to remove the plug from the bottom of the cupola.

He said the molten iron in the cupola backed up, burned a hole through the steel jacket of the cupola and through the housing of a water pipe.

The water collected in a pool beneath the cupola and when the doors in the bottom were opened to let out the metal the explosion followed.

Thirteen workmen were injured slightly and damage in the blast was estimated at about $1 million.

Caputo said in normal operations a plug is removed after five to six tons of molten iron is collected in the bottom.

He said the dropping of the cupola bottom is a standard procedure in an emergency where the tap hole plug cannot be removed, as well as at the end of each day's operations.

"Although every attempt had been made to assure that the bottom drop area was dry, the metal at 2,700 degrees Fahrenheit came into contact with water to instantly form steam and cause the explosion," Caputo said.

HOW THE POLITICAL CLIMATE HAS CHANGED

Thursday, Oct. 31, 1953 The Lincoln Star 37

By ARTHUR EDSON
Washington.—So one Texas congressman hits or shoves another Texas congressman—and it's news. Great heavens, how the political climate has changed!

This is for the better, of course. But let's not forget, in our modern tepidity, that this nation was often forged in hot words and cold blood.

Even by present standards, the Texas affair didn't amount to much.

It seems that Rep. Ed Foreman, a Republican, said something that Rep. Henry Gonzalez, a Democrat, objected to. As is true in most disputes, exactly what was said or implied isn't too clear, but Gonzalez believed he had been called a pinko—and promptly saw red.

Brief To-Do
So Tuesday there was a brief to-do just outside the House chamber with Gonzalez punching or shoving Foreman on the shoulder. Since Foreman is 6-4, weighs 200 and is only 29 years old, the damage inflicted by Gonzalez (who is 47 and weighs 174½) was understandably negligible.

Shades of Sam Houston! You call that a fight? Well, that's the way it has been going recently. When you call a man a fighter now, you mean he's quick on the trigger with a press release.

Official brawling records aren't kept, alas, but in 1949 a delightful squabble occurred between two Representatives now dead, Democrats Gene Cox of Georgia and Adolph Sabath of Illinois.

Heartily
They mixed it up heartily, but about all that happened was that glasses were bumped off. Which isn't surprising considering the ages of the gladiators: Cox was 69, Sabath 63.

Possibly the worst fight involving two congressmen came in 1856.

Sen. Charles Sumner, of Massachusetts, a violent author, Stephen A. Douglas Kansas-Nebraska bill and its slavery man, attacked the and Andrew P. Butler.

Rep. Preston Brooks of South Carolina felt Sumner's words were a libel on his state and on Butler, a relative of his. Following Sumner into the Senate chamber, Brooks pounded him with a cane until he fell senseless. Sumner didn't return to the Senate for three years.

Grand Weapons
But even when weapons were grandly flourished, the brawling—seen safely from our vantage point in history—could be more comic than disastrous.

In 1850, for example, a gun was drawn on the Senate floor. Sen. Henry S. Foote of Mississippi was making a blistering speech when Sen. Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri started down the aisle. Saying he feared an attack, Foote drew.

Friends grabbed Benton who nevertheless bawled out:

"I have no pistols! Let him fire! I have no pistols! I disdain to carry arms! Stand out of the way, and let the assassin fire!"

Who Could
What Senator today could come up with such a splendid quote for posterity under such conditions?

But on to Sam Houston. The father of Texas was attacked in a House speech by Rep. William Stanbery of Ohio. Houston caught Stanbery in the street, gave him a ferocious caning, and lived only because Stanbery's gun didn't fire.

But Stanbery filed charges, and a spectacular trial was held in the House.

Impassioned
Houston would up his defense with a speech so impassioned and flowery that Junius Brutus Booth rushed to embrace his old friend.

"Houston," cried the great actor, "take my laurels!" Moral: They were giants in those days—even when they acted like children.

CASTRO SAYS CUBA CAPTURED SEVERAL INTELLIGENCE AIDES

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro said Wednesday night that Cuba has captured several U.S. central intelligence agents, including two Canadians, and that they face possible death sentences.

He said the CIA used several vessels including one based at West Palm Beach, Fla., which he described in detail.

Castro named the Canadians as Ronald Patrick Lee and William David Meacham. He said they were captured after bringing in 18 cans of explosives concealed inside foam rubber.

U.S., Soviet, 15 Others Urge Complete N-Ban

United Nations, N.Y. (U)—The United States, the Soviet Union and 15 other countries joined Wednesday in calling for a ban on all nuclear tests including those underground. They sponsored a resolution in the U.N. General Assembly's Main Political Committee where overwhelming approval is virtually assured Thursday.

The proposal carefully avoids any reference to the problem of on-site inspection which so far has snagged negotiations. It does not even mention underground tests specifically.

Instead it employs the language of the treaty signed in Moscow Aug. 5 banning tests above ground and under water. That treaty urged further negotiations "to achieve the discontinuance of all test explosions of nuclear weapons for all time."

The resolution asks the 18-nation Geneva Disarmament Committee to continue negotiations to this end.

In an effort to avoid a U.N. clash between the United States and the Soviet Union, the sponsors agreed to bypass the question of on-site inspection which the West claims is essential to distinguishing clandestine underground tests from earthquakes.

The Soviet Union has rejected inspection demands as unnecessary and termed them a cover for espionage efforts.

The resolution was sponsored by all 17 nations participating at Geneva. France, which has boycotted the Geneva sessions, took no part in the two weeks of negotiations on the draft.

WORLD'S FIRST ATOMEDICS HOSPITAL DEDICATED IN DEEP SOUTH

Montgomery, Ala. (U)—A Canadian-born doctor saw his dream of a revolutionary new hospital concept come true in this Deep South city Wednesday as the world's first atomedics hospital was dedicated.

Industrial, business, medical and scientific leaders joined in the ceremonies which officially opened the 22-room facility designed to utilize space age equipment and reduce hospital costs significantly.

Dr. Hugh MacGuire, who originated the idea of an atomedics hospital, described the concept of atomedics as "nothing more than a glorious dream, a plan or a concept of how medicine would open its heart to industry and science."

"Today we dedicate the first prototype of an atomedics hospital in which after more than eight years we can actually organize our research efforts," he told the 300 guests. He said his hope is to find a way of producing a system of hospitals that can circle the globe "at a cost that everyone can afford."

Atomedics is a term coined to describe atomic age medicine, and MacGuire says he hopes to utilize the most modern equipment available in the treatment of patients. The present hospital will include computers which automatically will record such things as a patient's temperature which is relayed by tiny transducers which can be strapped on the patient.
